LURC OKs skiway rezoning

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Maine Land Use Regulation Commission last week approved Sunday River Ski Resort's application to have 275 acres in Riley Township rezoned to accommodate ski base facilities.

The rezoning, which had been recommended by the LURC staff, was approved unanimously, with LURC Commissioner Steve Wight of Newry abstaining because of a possible conflict of interest.

The 275 acre parcel is part of 1150 acres owned by the skiway in Riley. The area was already zoned for lifts and trails; the rezoning will now allow Sunday River to apply to build ski base facilities on the parcel. The facilities would be used to service a proposed network of 10 ski lifts and 72 trails, which the skiway hopes to eventually construct in Riley.

The rezoning will not in itself allow the resort to go ahead with base construction. Individual development projects within the rezoned area must still receive LURC and/or DEP approval.

"It just lays the groundwork" for future development, said Jolin Ippolito, assistant to Sunday River President Les Otten.

Resort officials have consistently refused to speculate publicly on a timetable for the Riley expansion--which, if carried to completion, would ultimately double the resort's lift and trail system. "We want to work our way over to there," Ippolito said, but the pace of development will be determined by the marketplace. "We want to stay ahead of the market," Ippolito said, "but we'll be projecting very carefully."

In April more than 200 people turned out at a LURC hearing in Bethel on the rezoning. Most of those who spoke at the hearing favored the plan, citing the resort's positive impact on the area economy. Opposition to the rezoning was led by Riley residents Alva Morrison Jr. and Alva Morrison III, who questioned the need for further Sunday River growth.

serve as assessors, valued the town at $86.5 million.

Selectman Steve Wight said if selectmen fail to keep within 70 percent of the state's evaluation they could lose money from state programs.

"We're concerned that the state valuation has grown more rapidly than our assessing," Wight said. "Their evaluation has been growing further away from ours over time. The state told us our valuation of the condominiums in town is where it belongs, but the evaluation of land in the town is low--particularly near the (Sunday River Ski Resort) and along the town's two rivers."

"If we allow this situation to go on," he said, "we'll be in danger of losing our tree growth reimbursement and the state may have other penalties as well. So, we'll be forced

Lower Main Street:

Trees and poles debate still rankles

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It's was a deal that satisfied no one, and it hasn't improved with age.

When Bethel selectmen agreed last month to accept a compromise on the design of lower Main Street, none of the people involved with the issue expressed much satisfaction with the plan.

The selectmen felt they had been forced into a move that was not in the town's long-term best interest. And members of the citizens' committee that had cobbled together the compromise plan felt the appearance of lower Main Street would still be changed too drastically.

A month later feelings on the matter have only worsened. At their meeting Monday night the selectmen were still complaining about being forced to accept the compromise. The main element of the compromise was a 10-foot wide grass strip, with an asphalt curb, that replaced six proposed parking spaces.

But the strip and curb "won't last 10 years," Board Chairman Arlan Jodrey predicted Monday. "In my estimation it will be smashed to s--- within five."

On the other side of the fence, members of the citizens' committee (which was formed after 247 residents signed a petition protesting the selectmen's plans for lower Main Street) felt the selectmen had gone on to betray the intent of the compromise.

Their major complaint was with the selectmen's decision to go ahead and move four utility poles inward from their present location to a new location in the curb line between the proposed sidewalk and grass strip.

Four large lower Main Street trees have already fallen to the construction crews, in order to make way for the wider road. The committee members worry that moving the poles inward (the move is scheduled for this week) will result in severe damage to the remaining trees, particularly a blue spruce on the property of Lynn Mason.

They also argue that there is no need to move the poles now, since the strip may turn out to be

Proposed Bethel street names on display in town office

Bethel selectman Henry Dombkowski recently completed a project to name all Bethel streets and number all buildings in town.

The project is a preliminary step toward the adoption of a name-and-number address system for the town. Such a system will be mandatory throughout the state at some point in the future (1995 now looks like the earliest possible date), and is intended primarily to aid emergency-service personnel in quickly locating the source of calls for assistance.

The name-and-number system will also give village residents a permanent and unique address, and it may be a step in the direction of door-to-door mail delivery.

A similar project was undertaken in Bethel in the mid-1980s, but was eventually abandoned, in part because townspeople couldn't agree on the names for some of the roads.

The names now proposed by the selectmen (most of which are the commonly used current names) can be seen on a map in the town office. Also available in the town office is a tentative listing of individual house number addresses.

The various bureaucratic stipulations on such a naming-and-numbering project made the actual naming quite complex, Dombkowski said, and he has encouraged any residents with questions about the proposal to leave their name and phone number at the town office so he can call them to explain the rationale for the proposed names and numbers.

The selectmen have scheduled a public hearing on the proposal for Nov. 2. Any such system must be approved by voters at town meeting.

Petition seeks repeal of sports users fees

By WENDY HANSCOM

Sue Rosenberg and Nancy Cross both of Woodstock are circulating a petition calling for the SAD 44 board of directors to reconsider once again their position on the district's new sport participation fees.

The board voted last week to retain the fees. At that meeting, Rosenberg told directors she felt that athletes were being targeted unfairly, which could discourage them from participating.

Cross agreed. "I just think it's hideous that they can charge kids money to ride home and pay to play sports," she said. "Sports are part of a whole education. It includes the students' social life and more."

"I feel I need to be an advocate for families who can't afford it or parents who aren't concerned whether their kids play sports or not or who are unwilling to file for a waiver for whatever reason," she said. "I'm in hopes to get plenty of signatures and present the petition to the board and say these are the people you represent and they're not happy. Ultimately, it's the children who will pay for it. It's not the parents or the taxpayer. It's taking an option away from the child."

D. Tripp will teach DARE

By WENDY HANSCOM

After some last minute scrambling by DARE organizers and SAD 44 officials to put together a patchwork funding package, Drug Abuse Resistance Education for the district's sixth-graders will begin its third year in October.

Former SAD 44 DARE instructor Brian Stowell resigned from the position earlier this month and will be replaced by Bethel police officer Darren Tripp, according to Telstar Middle School Principal Bruce Bell.

Tripp will graduate from DARE training on Sept. 25, according to Bethel Chief of Police Dale Bellman.

"Brian Stowell resigned as DARE officer citing the difficulty of operating out of South Paris--traveling distance and such," Bell said.

A combination of grants and middle school student activity funds financed Tripp's training and will pay for his classroom instructional time, Bell said. The total cost is

Rebel harriers off to slow start

By WENDY HANSCOM

Telstar High School's cross-country team is off to a slow start, but coach John Applin said that's not unusual.

Applin said turn out for the team has been low for the last few years and usually starts out slowly--especially the girls--but he is expecting more runners soon.

"Our numbers are low," the coach said, "but it will probably look up when we get to the big meets. We'll have more out and more training."

The boys came in second the season opening meet with Dirigo and Mt. Abram. Last week the boys finished last in a four-way with Livermore Falls, Lisbon and Jay.

The girls have not scored yet this season, because they need five runners competing and have only four.

Applin blamed the low turn out in part on the district's new sports participation fee.

"In speaking with kids about participating," he said, "Some have said it's a matter of their folks not wanting to pay out the money."

The girls may be few in number, but they have plenty of speed. At the Mt. Abram meet, the Rebel girls took four of the top six places.

Sophomore Aimee Applin came in first followed by sophomore Terri Applin in third, junior Jen Bowie in fifth and senior Ingrid Hedlund in sixth.

SELECTMEN, MANAGER HIGH-HANDED ON MAIN ST.

To the Editor:

The Main Street project is now being executed (perhaps the most appropriate word) and so far those of us who were concerned about what would happen there have little reason to be confident that the agreement voted by the selectmen will be upheld. I hope we will be pleasantly surprised, but so far events have not been encouraging. All indications are that the selectmen's and town manager's original intentions are being carried out with little reference to the compromise.

The next steps will be among the most crucial in seeing whether or not the selectmen's credibility and that of the town manager will be upheld. In moving the power lines (the funding I understand will come out of funds outside the grant to the tune of approximately $7,000), there are no longer any trees of questionable health (all have now been cut down) to be considered. Moving the lines appears likely to affect the remaining trees to the extent that they will either be permanently misshapen by trimming or have to be removed outright.

I don't remember in my eight years as a selectman any time that the Board acted in such an arbitrary and high-handed manner. I can recall several instances where citizens had differences of opinion about a particular street or road project and the entire board and town manager went out and worked out something to the satisfaction of all concerned. This has not been the case I'm afraid in relation to Main Street.

It has been a struggle even to get the board to listen (with a few exceptions), and I'm afraid we have a town manager who is intent on carrying out her own vision without regard to the rights of property owners and the opinions of citizens and taxpayers. It is not a very reassuring state of affairs.

I hope that I am mistaken in my analysis. We'll soon see. In the meantime I trust that others sharing my concerns will make their views known in letters to the editor and/or by contacting the selectmen or town manager. Let's see if we still have a democracy in this town or a situation we need to change.

USER FEE IS UNFAIR

To the Editor:

I would like to start this letter off by commending Jane Rolfe, Merton Brown, Cheryl Eliot and Kay McDonnell for standing by their constituents and voting to get rid of the sports user fee. They realize that they are on the board of directors to serve and vote the way the majority of their constituents want them to. Unlike some other directors who feel their loyalties belong with the administrators.

Mr. Thibodeau was right, it is not a life or death issue but this user fee was put on the backs of the group who already spends more money to participate in their activity than anyone else in the district. And yes, it can be "thrashed" out again during the next budget session but that leaves the class of '93 up the proverbial creek without a paddle!

To be able to participate in a sport you have to be passing each one of your classes. Athletes have an extra incentive to do well academically and they're spending their free time constructively. Colleges don't look at just the academics of prospective students. They look to see what kind of a well rounded person they are. Do Telstar graduates need to write on their resumes that they would have played sports but couldn't afford to? Or worse yet—couldn't afford to go to college because they did play sports for SAD 44.

If athletes are the only being hit with this user fee then the money generated from this needs to stay within the athletic budget. Not thrown in the general fund to be used where ever.

I feel a "bad decision" was made on this issue and I feel it should be reversed this year. The board defeated that motion this time but next budget session, remember how your constituents protested.

CCAT UPDATE

To the Editor:

The Community Chemical Awareness Team, otherwise known as the CCAT team, is off to a great start this fall. We are becoming very active in the area, which encompasses all the towns within SAD 44.

After sharing our knowledge with the students of the area, we now are ready to share, care and help in the community at large. Please watch for us in your area soon. We have brochures available locally with a list of our members names and telephone numbers.

We would also like to extend our gratitude to all the people who patronized our "Lemon Whiskers Booth" on Mollycokett Day this year, and a very special thank you to everybody who donated time, space, etc.

TOO MUCH MEAT IN LUNCH

To the Editor:

Having glanced through the school lunch menus, I would like to know why, in light of the scientific evidence condemning meat eating, do schools continue to serve chicken, beef and pork for lunch? Three questions must be addressed:

1) Environment. Children are extremely aware these days of their part in protecting the environment. With the facts so easily available, how much longer can we keep it a secret that eating meat is the most environmentally destructive habit in our society?

2) Nutrition. How can we continue to support the dangerous tradition of meat in the cafeteria? Tomorrow's hot lunch menu offers a feast of cancer, heart disease, stroke, diabetes, asthma, kidney stones and pesticides. How can we serve it to kids when even meat inspectors refuse to eat these animals? Besides, when vegetable protein was substituted for the beef and chicken in school lunches at Southern Illinois University, school kids preferred the healthy meals to the meat.

3) Animal suffering. Most kids who know how animals are killed to produce their lunches refuse to eat any more of the flesh and the blood of these creatures. Most farm animals are slaughtered via torturous means. Even the former Ronald McDonald, Jeff Tulliano, has apologized for telling kids to eat meat.

Those who stand to gain financially by promoting meat will continue to insist that we consume animals. We must each examine the facts regarding the environment, nutrition and animal suffering. A good, informative resource is the Physicians Committee for Responsible Medicine, P.O. Box 6322, Washington DC, 20015. Its members are medical doctors.

Systematic physical training in our schools: more science, less competition, higher performance

By DICK TAYLOR

One notion that worries some people in our schools is that a traditionally extra-curricular set of activities, specifically systematic physical training, could gain enough in its substance and science to claim strengthened stature within the general academic curriculum.

That might begin to form a larger, more complex whole within the strictly academic values and require re-balancing, like a new set of tires, with different weights placed at new points on the rim. We may have to rethink relative academic values which we have long shared and which for many years have been, it seems safe to say, in well-fenced conservative pastures. Part of this process will be the problem of determining the importance of extra- vs. intra-curricular subjects, once the mind-body division has successfully been blurred.

The implications of blurring the distinction between mind and body have both ancient precedents and modern scientific examples. In the late 1960s even social and political philosophers got into the act. The Marxist, Jurgen Habermas, argued that the capitalist elite looked to sport as a means of occupying and subduing the excess energies of the working class in order to distract it from a deepened political consciousness, to dull its sensitivity to social and economic injustice, to emasculate in advance in search for a distinct political identity. The imperative to "keep 'em off the streets" meant keep the workers dumb and unaware; in sports they can be kept amused and harmless.

Parents and school boards have used the same rationale with youngsters, and coaches have even gone one better, using sport to "shape up" performance or behavior. If a youngster does not perform well or makes a mistake, he is punished by having to run laps or do pushups.

Training in the summer time is like suggesting to kids that they ought not to read during their vacations, and using one sport activity as punishment for another is like making a student do geometry problems because he did poorly on a French test.

In the context of schools, we can pursue our discussion by first asking students where the sources of their sense of self-image and personal power is found. A majority will say sports, and then explain that sport is for the body, studying for the mind. Study is so hard and unrewarding; sport is invigorating and fun, even when you are tired. While many will agree that an engaged mind will enhance most sports experience, they will still emphasize that physical activity gives them power, mental activity mostly headaches. In a practical sense the dichotomy between mind and body has dug these students' graves, for it has divided their perspective on human activity from within. It has, in fact, divided them from themselves...to the detriment of their intellectual engagement and their insight into the basic physical aspects of human life.

One source of distrust in systematic physical culture is in itself cultural. Whereas for the ancient Greeks the agon of the athlete was ritual celebration of deity, right along with the "games" of theater, poetry, and dance, Christians were inspired by a more gentle spirit. In the new faith spirit and flesh divided. No longer was there interest and inspiration in the flesh, for it was the spirit alone which was eternal. No longer was there trust in the flesh, for its expressions and pleasures were the accomplices of temptation and evil. Sixty years after the Council of Nicea, at which the doctrine of the Trinity became the de facto imperial Roman religion, Theodosius II, quite logically, banned the Olympic Games at Elis in 393 BC.

In America our particular Puritan heritage has remained alive and well, elevating that Christian distrust of the flesh to the need for its unconditional mortification. And among our fathers and grandfathers the Depression only abetted this notion, for people were seldom able to work doing something they wanted to do. Survival instinct dictated that the flesh be disciplined, that natural talent, want, or reasonable preference be stifled. Since that time it has been a difficult task to define work as something else than "effort which pains" or "something I do not really enjoy."

Sports remained even more firmly, and safely, in the area of diversion and relief from real life, rather than providing information, expression, or insight into it. Although the concept of lifetime sport is but one example of how much better we know now, the idea that sport is really of only passing value to real life is not dying easily. Our sports ethos runs roughly: to subdue the flesh is noble and Christian, frees the spirit for higher goals. Go hard in all things, "be tough," these are the messages of mind over matter, of intellect over senses, of psyche over sensation and sensibility. The flesh conquered, the win is achieved. We exult...and are not a little relieved.

If we are to train the flesh systematically, however, stimulate it to growth and self-awareness, give it that dignity, that is somehow disturbing. It seems pagan, out of harness, oddly adulterous, or at the very least not worthy of true spirit.

When the systematic approach is undertaken, regardless of its physiological soundness, the accusation is soon heard that this is too Prussian, rigid, elitist. The facts show just the opposite. Systematic physiological stimulation development is inclusive of more levels of natural athletic ability because the premise to simply perform, "be tough," to win is tempered by the understanding of natural physiological stages, by the resultant patience, adequate skill development, and, above all, the hours of systematic low and (some) medium intensity aerobic fitness training (six weeks minimum) which is essential to any real athletic growth. Competition is included as one of the elements in development, but the wholesome commandment to simply "be tough," to compete soon, often, and to win is justly exposed as simplistic, even crude.

Development should be defined as progressive freedom and refinement of movement. It should be a balanced discovery of self within the natural constraints of our exterior and interior worlds. Those realities are in fact the harness within which every human being develops. To stimulate growth systematically does not remove the harness, it rather defines it accurately. In doing so the harness can become the vehicle of wisdom rather than suspicion, allowing the creature within greater mobility, speed, humility, indeed even more expansive experiences of spirit.

This notion is no different from providing people the same applicable medicine for their basic limitations. Lack of the appropriate prescription leaves people where they are, status quo, and this is both unfair and lazy, both in philosophy and execution.

Unease with a deepened notion of physical culture may also go not only to issues of balances of power within our schools' curricula but to issues of our senses of personal power as well. The traditional line of thinking might run as follows:

1) "If I go as hard as I can, every moment, I will feel good in the trying, and I will win with my individual talent.

2) "If I do not win, I can at least say the effort was noble. I am a creature of spirit, after all. Besides, I couldn't really prepare. Other things were more important. The effort was the point, not the win.

3) "But had I trained well, and then lost, I would have to face a different conclusion: I made a noble effort but could still not equal or better my peers. My 'noble' was not of ultimate value in the realities of human performance. My self-image is a bit smaller, and I don't like that."

We must face the notion that there are all levels and kinds of "noble." Once again, accepting this fact is to also admit that personal power is a modest, fleeting, and very relative thing. The implications of this realization on one's power/position status (or one's view of it) in relationships, family, profession are profound, to say the least...but not dangerous, so long as one's ego derives from one's humanity and not simply from power itself.

And lest our definitions of humanity run about erratically in the loose harness of this or that philosophical or educational concept, it is high time that the understanding of the body, how it moves and works and grows, when, how and under what optimal circumstances, is deepened and put into serious practice. This understanding cannot be only that provided by book and intellect but must arise each day through the actual practice of informed physical culture in our gyms and on our fields. And that practice alone is what will yield the higher level of athletic performance it is our young people's right to enjoy.

WMNF TO HOST SAFE LOGGING SEMINAR

The White Mountain National Forest will host a short seminar entitled "Achieving Health and Safety in Logging." The session will be held at the Evans Notch Ranger District on Route 2 in Bethel, Saturday, Sept. 26 at 9 a.m., and will last approximately two hours.

There is no fee for the session. Anyone interested in safety in the woods is invited to attend. Pre-registration is not necessary but would be appreciated. Anyone interested can call Tom Wheeler, Evans Notch Ranger District at 824-2134 for more information.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 1 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. As this meeting is the annual "What's It" or "Collectibles Night," anyone attending is asked to bring an item from his or her collection or something that can be considered a "What's It."

The 22nd annual Homecoming Day will be held on Saturday, Sept. 26 at the headquarters of the Bethel Historical Society, the Dr. Moses Mason House, 1 to 4 p.m. As usual the museum will be decorated with a number of harvest items and special tours will be available. Also during the afternoon, Society Director Stanley R. Howe will make a presentation on the history of Gould Academy. Anyone interested in attending is cordially invited to do so.

The fall meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies was held in Hebron, which this year is celebrating this year the bi-centenary of its incorporation. Featured speaker for the afternoon was Richard Bedford of the Hebron Historical Society.

Among the newest members of the Bethel Historical Society are Robert Chapman Foster III, East Boothbay; Mark E. Vail, Salt Lake City, Utah; Firsteen Lane, Vacaville, Calif.; Kathy Lamoreau, Bethel; Joan C. Radner, Washington, D.C. and Maynard White, Haverhill, Mass.

A warm welcome is extended to these individuals who have recently joined.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 1 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. As this meeting is the annual "What's It" or "Collectibles Night," anyone attending is asked to bring an item from his or her collection or something that can be considered a "What's It."

The 22nd annual Homecoming Day will be held on Saturday, Sept. 26 at the headquarters of the Bethel Historical Society, the Dr. Moses Mason House, 1 to 4 p.m. As usual the museum will be decorated with a number of harvest items and special tours will be available. Also during the afternoon, Society Director Stanley R. Howe will make a presentation on the history of Gould Academy. Anyone interested in attending is cordially invited to do so.

The fall meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies was held in Hebron, which this year is celebrating this year the bi-centenary of its incorporation. Featured speaker for the afternoon was Richard Bedford of the Hebron Historical Society.

Among the newest members of the Bethel Historical Society are Robert Chapman Foster III, East Boothbay; Mark E. Vail, Salt Lake City, Utah; Firsten Lane, Vacaville, Calif.; Kathy Lamoreau, Bethel; Joan C. Radner, Washington, D.C. and Maynard White, Haverhill, Mass.

A warm welcome is extended to these individuals who have recently joined.

HIKING POLLSTER—Albert Hansen of Brunswick, right, recently passed through Western Maine on the last leg of his four month hike of the Appalachian Trail. Albert and his dog, Ted, were joined for the day by his uncle Carl Hansen a candidate for the state Senate in district #8. Albert, an employee of L.L. Bean, will be volunteering for the Hansen for Senate campaign as polling coordinator.

From the Bethel Police log: Skidder parts stolen

Frank Walker told police last Tuesday that several parts had been stolen from a skidder parked behind Walker's Repairs. Parts missing included two planetary gears, two axles and axle covers. No value estimate of the parts stolen was available.

Also last Tuesday, SAD 44 busdriver Stuart Mason reported a vehicle had passed his stopped bus at the Crescent Park School. On Friday, another busdriver reported his stopped bus was passed at Telstar High School.

In other police news last week, police responded late Thursday evening to a complaint of a noisy group of subjects at Bethel Park Apartments. When police asked the group to leave the area, they did. On Friday, police responded to a call for Bethel Rescue at Telstar High School. The student, who had complained of difficulty breathing, was not transported, according to the police report.

Friday evening police advised a group of juveniles to move off Four Seasons Inn property on Main Street. Police told the juveniles they could be arrested for criminal trespass if they returned.

NEW BETHEL POLICE OFFICER—Anne Bertram of Norway has been hired as a full-time Bethel police officer. She replaces James Merrill who resigned in June to work for D & E Sanitation. Bertram has been a Bethel reserve officer for just under a year. She will take the Maine Criminal Justice Academy 12-week law enforcement course sometime within the next year, according to Chief Dale Bellman.

to do a reevaluation."

Wight explained that selectmen assess houses of equal value slightly higher near the Sunday River Ski Resort than in other parts of town. But the state values properties near Sunday River or with river frontage much higher than the town, he said, and the town's assessors will probably follow suit.

Wight said the selectmen will research how much land and homes are selling for in various parts of the town.

"I don't think we want to charge someone in the upper end of the Bear River Valley as much as someone with land near the ski area," he said.

More school tax

The greatest effect the increased state evaluation will have on the town is a hike in its share of school taxes to SAD 44.

Wight said Andover and Woodstock's state evaluation increased this year about $4 million each. Bethel's is down about $3.5 million and Greenwood stayed about the same.

"What you'll see is a reshuffling of the amount each town pays for the school," Wight said. "Newry's share will go up. The other issue for us is that by these new figures, Newry is valued at 82 percent of Bethel's evaluation. So Newry is becoming almost as valuable in the state's eyes as Bethel. But when you drive around the two towns, it's hard to see. (The state) tells me it's because half of the town's value is at the ski area and some of Bethel is tax exempt—like Gould Academy."

DARE

about $3,800, according to DARE fundraiser Jane Rolfe.

About half of the training expense and 90 instructional booklets were paid for by a grant from the Maine State Police Academy, Bell said.

Money from a Drug Free Schools Grant administered by Telstar High School chemical health coordinator Rodney Abbott will pay for most of Tripp's instructional time, according to Bell.

To insure that the program continues in SAD 44, Bell said the rest of the money needed will be taken from the middle school student activity account—between $1,200 and $1,500.

"We're hoping to replace the money taken from the student activity account," Bell said. "We're thinking of it in terms of a loan. In past years the (DARE) committee has raised all of that and more. It's a one time expense and I won't have to do it again. Every child in the sixth-grade will benefit from it. Otherwise there would have been no program for an entire year. It seemed like an appropriate thing to do. I didn't like doing it, but I didn't like the alternative."

Money in the student activity account is raised by middle school students, Bell said, mostly through the school's yearly magazine sales. He said he is also applying for additional grant money to help pay for the DARE program.

Both Bell and Bellman endorsed the program as an influential tool in the battle against drug abuse, and both said a local police officer serving as the district's DARE officer will only make the program more effective.

"When the officer meets the kids around town they'll all know each other," Bell said. "It should give us a much better relationship between the students and the police department."

Fees

voted to rescind the fees said she is willing to discuss the issue again.

"I realize it's already come before the board," Rolfe said, "but if we get a petition that comes through with enough signatures then the board should consider it again."

SMH FIRST AID COURSE

The health education department at Stephens Memorial Hospital is pleased to offer the American Red Cross Standard First Aid course on Tuesday, Oct. 13 and Wednesday, Oct. 14. Classes will be held from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Participants successfully completing the course receive an American Red Cross Adult C.P.R. certificate, which is valid for one year and a standard first aid certificate, which is valid for three years.

The fee for the class is $40 and pre-registration is required. For more information and registration, please call the health education department of Stephens Memorial Hospital at 743-5933, ext. 471.

ment." "We'll have more contact with the kids because Darren is local," Chief Bellman said. "Bruce Bell, Rodney Abbott and the DARE committee should be commended for their efforts and quick action. There was only one spot left in the training program and they only had two days to put it all together. Darren was very happy to do it. I'm glad it's back. You can't beat it. It's a great program. Now we have to get the citizens to support it, too. It will cost the town of Bethel and the Bethel police department nothing. We just supplied the man."

Tripp is still in DARE training at Sugarloaf and was unavailable for comment, but Bellman said, "I talked to him this weekend and he's really enthusiastic about the program he's in."

DARE fundraising coordinator Jannine Buck said letters to local businesses, and those who have supported DARE in the past are going out soon. There are also several fundraising activities planned, she said.

"I feel like I've got some support," Buck said. "We've got some team players."

Applin said he has girls still coming out and should have enough to compete soon.

The boys team has four veteran runners. Seniors Fred Burk and Joel Riley and sophomores Kevin Rosenberg and Peter Miserocchi. Newcomers include sophomore Darrin Wigley and freshmen Jason Koskela and Andy Dennis.

Competition in the Mountain Valley conference will be tough, Applin said. Many of the teams usually compete well at the state level. In last year's MVC meet, the girls finished fifth out of eight teams, and the boys finished 12th out of 13 teams.

Applin said none of the boys qualified for the state meet last year, and he's not very optimistic for this season either.

Aimee Howe did very well in the regular season last year, he said, and will probably qualify for state competition this year.

Applin continues to extol running as a life-time sport and encourages students interested in it to turn out for the team and get in shape.

New Gould faculty

Gould Academy Headmaster Bill Clough recently announced appointments of several new music and theater instructors to an expanded performing arts staff, as well as teachers in the history and Spanish departments. The school began classes Monday with an enrollment of 197 (an increase of 24 students from 1991), composed of 164 boarding and 33 day students.

Clough welcomed the new staff and said he "is looking forward to the strength and diversity this group will add to the Gould program."

Kathy Slack Lamoreau of Albany will run the theater program, which includes student plays and a community musical in the spring. Lamoreau was a professional music and theater performer in New York City prior to completing a graduate degree at the University of Maine, where she also taught as an adjunct professor. She is co-director of the Mahosue Arts Council, performs with many local musical groups, and assisted in the organization of Bethel's new Just Imagine coffee house. Said Lamoreau, "The messages communicated through the Arts can enlighten as well as initiate change in people's lives." She will work with drama technical director Vicki Rackliffe, with whom she also co-chairs the local arts council.

Gould's music department will expand its music staff from one to three with the addition of the husband and wife team of Jonathan and Liz Smith, as well as Deirdre Wellehan of Portland. The trio will share in the direction of the choral and ensemble groups and instrumental instruction. The Smiths are respected Bethel area musicians, having taught music classes throughout the Bethel community, including work with S.A.D. 44, local churches and the annual Messiah production, and private pupils.

Deirdre Wellehan is a 1988 music and fine arts dean's list graduate of Ithaca College with training in classical piano and percussion. Wellehan was a member of the Portland Youth Symphony and numerous collegiate singing groups. She is also a certified Wilderness Emergency Medical Technician and an instructor for the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School.

The History Department has added Micah Parzen, a 1991 University of California-Berkeley graduate in anthropology. Parzen received training in French at the University of Benin in Togo, West Africa, a country in which he was an English tutor in 1989. He also has collegiate and semi-professional level soccer experience (1991 Most Valuable Player at U.C. Berkeley), has directed various youth soccer programs, and will be head coach of the Gould program.

Doug Alford of Pawling, NY has joined the Language Department and will teach various levels of Spanish. Alford was a foreign language and music major at Ithaca College, where he graduated with a concentration in Spanish. He taught Spanish and French at the Trinity-Pawling School, and translated Spanish legal documents for a law firm. A talented singer and folk guitar player, he will coach skiing and soccer at Gould.

Eileen Kerr of Mexico will teach in the Art Department for the fall semester. She holds degrees in anthropology and fine arts, teaches courses in painting and drawing, has taught at the University of Maine at Rumford, and has staged workshops as a travelling artist throughout northern New England.

Mollie Moorhouse joined the Alumni/Development Office as assistant director of development in June. She graduated from Gould in 1986, Mt. Holyoke College in 1990, and was director of student life at the Catherine Gibbs School in Boston.

New office staff at Gould this year include Cindy Millet in the Alumni Office, Martha Hoeh Siegel in the school bookstore, and veteran headmaster's secretary Polly Davis, who has made a temporary return from retirement to assist at the Academy.

By MARTA CLEMENTS

The Parent Volunteers of West Paris are alive and well and very busy. Michelle Blake met with the teachers at our regular staff meeting last week. We were delighted to hear that the volunteers had been meeting throughout the summer, and that many activities were already underway.

Parents are making plans to raise money to fund field trips for every class, as was done last year. Also, last year our volunteer group donated $300 to buy new books for our school library. Our librarian, Kathy Davis, purchased a beautiful assortment with the donation. Our parents want to do this again this year. Through their efforts, the DARE drug abuse prevention program will be instigated in our fifth grade. Room mothers have been assigned at each grade level.

This past Tuesday evening, the volunteers met with the teachers to begin working together. The first fundraiser of the year will be our candy bar sale. The kickoff date is Sept. 25. This is the major fundraiser of the year, and quite a bit of our meeting involved plans for this project. Teachers met with their room mothers to talk about how they would be working together. It turns out to be more than just helping out at parties.

Room mothers are: Sally Berry and Lisa Beebe, kindergarten. Barbara Shead, grade one. Jean Richards, grade two. Dorise Emery and Patricia Farris, grade three. Penny Gendron and Francis Pawlowski, grade four. Elaine Newell, grade five. Beverly Farrar and Dixie Inman, grade six. Many thank yous ahead of time from all of us to all of you.

The next item of interest from this volunteer group will be our second annual Halloween party. Emily Robinson is the chairperson, and our next meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 22 at 6:30 p.m. will be to work on plans for Halloween. Barbara Shead is also working on that committee.

Please call either lady if you want to help.

Michelle Blake is lining up volunteers to help in the classroom on the playground and in the cafeteria. We do encourage anyone who is interested in helping in any way to join us. This is not a group where a few people do it all. We have lots of people doing lots of different things. Call any of us for further information.

News from the sixth-grade classroom this week: Adventure is the first theme in the new basal series. All are reading survival stories, both fiction and non-fiction. Courage At Indian Deep is the novel that accompanies the first unit. Spelling, vocabulary and creative writing all go along with the unit. In math the class is working on factoring, and learning about prime and composite numbers. Endangered species was the first science unit. Students chose and reported on an endangered species. They learned why their choice is endangered and what is being done for preservation. Map skills are being addressed in social studies with the focus on drawings of the globe with all the imaginary lines we use to determine our positions in the world.

FALL SPORT ACTION
Telstar High School's Cheri Myers, left, sprints downfield during Friday's game against Leavitt. The Rebels scored early in the game and held their 1-0 lead to the end. The Telstar field hockey squad is 4-1 for the season. The girl's next home game is scheduled for Friday at 3:30 p.m. Rebel forward Adam Taylor, right, takes aim with his head, but misses the goal on this try during first half soccer action Wednesday against Lisbon. Taylor and Toby Parker went on to score a goal apiece in the second half, winning the game 2-1. The Rebels lost to Carrabec Monday making them 3-1-1 for the season. The boys take on Dirigo at home on Sept. 24 at 3:30 p.m.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

Two seminars will be offered by Adult Education of the Telstar Region for those interested in improving their presentation skills and in establishing themselves as consultants. John Fossett, a successful consultant and professional speaker, will be the presenter for two sessions on Friday, Oct. 2 at the Adult Learning Center on Philbrook Street in Bethel.

The morning session, from 9 a.m. to noon is entitled How to Become A Successful Consultant, and will cover the do's and don't's of successful consulting for challenge and profit. The afternoon seminar, How To Make Dazzling Presentations, will run from 1 to 4 p.m., and will reveal the secrets used by professional speakers. Both business and community leaders will have the opportunity to polish their presentation skills used in group meetings of all varieties.

Registration is required, and there is a fee of $30 per session. To register, call the Adult Education office, 824-2780.

GED Preparation

GED Preparation is in full swing at SAD #44 Adult and Community Education, according to Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell. "Adults are continuing to take the pre-tests and to work on academic areas in preparation for the test, despite the temporary statewide shut-down on actual examination procedures," Newell stated. Last week, adult education programs in Maine were instructed to stop GED testing, following the discovery of a theft of test materials in Mechanic Falls earlier in the month. "This is actually a good time for those without a high school diploma to get started," Newell added, "since the total focus of the program is on the preparation process."

GED Preparation is available during the day at the Adult Learning Center in Bethel, and during evening hours at Telstar High School. A class in Andover is in the process of forming. Anyone interested in GED Preparation should contact the Adult Education office, 824-2780, for an appointment to discuss their schedule.

Application/aid Seminar

College Application and the Financial Aid Process is the topic of a free workshop to be held on Tuesday, Oct. 6, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel. The session is provided by the Maine Educational Opportunity Center in cooperation with Adult Education of the Telstar Region.

The seminar is planned for anyone planning to enter college within the next year, including adults as well as high school students and their parents. A sample college application will be completed as well as the Financial Aid Form (FAF) which is widely used by colleges.

Pre-registration is requested. To register, call 824-2780.

CPR and Standard First Aid

Courses in CPR and Standard First Aid will be held during the month of October at the Bethel Area Health Center, under the sponsorship of SAD #44 Adult and Community Education. The Red Cross Multimedia Standard First Aid course will meet on Thursdays, Oct. 1 and Oct. 8, from 6 to 10 p.m., and will include Adult CPR. The fee is $25. A CPR course will be held on Oct. 15 and 22, from 6 to 9 p.m. The fee is $20, with a $10 fee for those only needing recertification.

MISEROCCHI IN RUSSIA

Nathan P. Miserochchi of Andover is participating in the Bates College junior semester abroad program.

Miserochchi, a double major in English and Russian, will study in St. Petersburg, Russia.

Students at Bates have the option during their junior year of taking either a semester or full year in a foreign country. Both programs provide them opportunities to study and conduct research at their choice of hundreds of colleges and universities throughout the world.

Some students at Bates enroll independently at the foreign university of their choice, while others take the option of foreign-study programs offered by other accredited American colleges.

NOTES FROM

Telstar Guidance

The 1992-93 school year is off to a busy start at Telstar High School with everyone looking forward to a productive year. Students the past two weeks have settled into their six- and seven-period classes schedules with a minimal amount of adjustments. In addition to fine tuning students' academic programs, counselors Dan Hart and Beth LaVallee have been busily setting up new peer helper groups. Self groups, peer tutoring, CHOICES career exploration, job bank, freshmen awareness and National Honor Society will again provide many and varied support services to students throughout the year.

The Telstar staff and student body warmly welcomes 15 new students to the school this year. They are seniors: David Hassett from Piscataquis High School and exchange student Ingrid Hedlund from Sweden.

Juniors: Elisa Brochu formerly of Auburn, Tim Rivera of Andover, Tammara Rice from Mt. Abraham High School and Paul Ladakakos, Old Orchard Beach.

Freshmen: Travis York entering from South Portland High School; Kari Anne Kemp, Portland; Heather Henson, Mt. Valley High School; Heidi and Elaine Brochu, Auburn; Scott Waite, Lee Academy; Janko Radosavljevic, Yugoslavia; Jeanette Ritter, York and Jennifer Hurlbert, Errol, N.H.

Freshmen Awareness members have enjoyed the opportunity to "buddy" up with these individuals in order to ease their transition into their new school and communities.

This year's juniors and seniors will begin receiving post-secondary planning presentations when Mr. Hart visits their English classes this month. The Class of '93 has already had three special acceptances. Lisa Cross is spending her senior year studying abroad in France. Anyone wishing to write to her may send her a letter in care of Miguel and Rosa Rodriguez, 26 Rue Paul Deudon, 59750 Feignies, France.

While in France, classmate, Billie Jo Robinson is spending her senior year as a freshman in college. Billie Jo is currently majoring in psychology at Notre Dame College, Manchester, N.H.

Senior David Barnes enlisted in the U.S. Navy this past summer. He will specialize in electronics and leaves for boot camp in Grand Lakes, Illinois in August of 1993. Many more acceptances are soon to follow as Class of '93 members seriously consider their futures.

Important upcoming dates for Telstar students and parents to be aware of include:

Sept. 23--College Fair at the University of Southern Maine

Oct. 2--Registration deadline for November college boards

Oct. 7--Tenth-, eleventh- and twelfth-grade parent night at Telstar (7 p.m.)

Oct. 9--Armed services vocational aptitude testing for Telstar seniors.

Oct. 17--P.S.A.T. Testing for Telstar sophomores and juniors at Telstar

Nov. 7--November college boards at Gould Academy

In addition, the following college and military representatives will be visiting Telstar in the coming weeks:

Sept. 17--Washington County Technical College (1:30)

Sept. 21--Trinity College, Burlington, Vt. (9:30)

Sept. 24--University of Maine at Presque Isle (8:45)

Sept. 28--Unity College (11:00) and Thomas College (1:30)

Oct. 6--Plymouth State College (12:30)

Oct. 7--University of Maine at Machias (11:00)

Oct. 9--University of Maine at Farmington (1:30)

Oct. 14--Andover College (12:20)

Oct. 15--Lyndon State College (1:30) and Navy Recruiter (1:30)

Oct. 29--St. Joseph's College (12:20)

Oct. 30--Daniel Webster College (1:30)

Nov. 6--University of New England (1:30)

Nov. 13--Johnson & Wales University (1:30)

Dec. 1--University of Southern Maine (10:15)

Parents and community members, we encourage and welcome your attendance at these visitations as well. For more information, call the guidance office at 824-2138.

Boarding schools open house

Admissions officers from 10 top New England boarding schools will be at the Portland Regency Hotel for an open house for students and families on Monday, Sept. 28 from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Information is available on financial aid, program offerings, class size, and any other subjects of interest. "At each of these schools there are offerings for students with a wide variety of interests and talents," according to Will Graham, admissions director at Gould Academy, which is hosting this gathering.

The 11 schools are: Gould Academy, Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H.; Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Cl.; Kent School in Kent, Cl.; Hotchkiss School in Lakeville, Cl.; Holderness School in Plymouth, N.H.; Northfield Mount Hermon School in Northfield, Mass.; Kimball Union Academy in Meriden, N.H.; Proctor Academy in Andover, N.H.; Tabor Academy in Marion, Mass.; and Salisbury School in Salisbury, Cl. "The common denominator between these schools is the commitment they have to individualized attention to each child," said Graham.

Further information on the open house may be obtained by calling Graham at Gould Academy, 824-2196.

East Stoneham

By ELEANOR NELSON

The Stoneham Knight Riders Snowmobile Club held their annual chicken and steak cookout for landowners and members on Sunday at the Club House with about 60 people attending. It was a beautiful day and there was plenty of food as always. A short meeting was held after dinner and it was voted to go to Tall Timbers Lodge in Pittsburgh, N.H. for the club trip this year, which will be the weekend of Jan. 29 to 31. If members plan to go, they are to contact the secretary or treasurer on or before Oct. 13.

Mr. Jim Favor from Santa Barbara, California has been staying at the Favor log cabin camp at Lake Keewadin for several weeks.

The State crew has been cleaning and scraping up along the main road in town.

Members of the Stoneham Rescue Service have been busy recently working on the foundation, etc. for the new added room to be built on the Rescue building.

Melissa Fox has started classes at the School of Lifetime Learning at Kennett in N.H., which is affiliated with UNH. This is night courses as she is still working at Westways in Lovell.

Thaxter Littlefield left one day last week with Neal and Martha Littlefield to go to Virginia where he will visit with them for awhile.

There will be a public supper on Thursday, Sept. 24 at the East Stoneham Church with the usual baked beans and brown bread and casseroles, salads, pies, etc. from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Ede Holt was the lucky winner at the East Stoneham Country Store weekly drawing.

Howard Adams was taken to the Stephens Memorial Hospital on Monday with chest pains. He has since been transferred to the Maine Medical Center in Portland. Hopefully he is better at this writing.

Phyllis Adams is at home and feeling better after being in the Stephens Memorial Hospital recently.

Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F.

Richardson tent #19 will be meeting at the K. Of P. Hall Wednesday, Sept. 23 at 7 p.m. Members please attend to discuss the upcoming inspection plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Grant recently attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Morton in South Paris.

Brian Tindler, Jesse Adams, Travis Fox, Troy Nelson, Charles Lawrence and Ed Millett from town are among the members of the Fryeburg Academy football team this year. Good luck, boys, and I hope to attend one of the games one of these days.

Her grandson plays on the Lisbon team.

On Tuesday several ladies from the White Mountain League of the Gorham, N.H. Congregational Church called at the Wentzell cottage. I also visited there.

bad at all!

Tuesday noon a potluck dinner was held at the home of Newton and Joyce Lamb. Those also present were Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Adams, Lempi Cyr, Cynthia Lamb, June Demarest, Edith Morey, Miriam Inman and the honored guests, Phil and Virginia Hyam who are moving to Florida at the end of the week.

Forward Fellowship will meet Monday, Sept. 28 at the home of Marta Clements. There will be a 6:30 potluck supper.

Much sympathy is extended to Pamela Baker and family upon the death of her father, Ted Olson.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

The planning board met Monday night and gave permits for tree sheds and a drainpipe under the road. A previously denied application for a cottage was discussed.

Ray Bernier has finished piling rocks in Mass. for the time being and will be stacking them in Sunday River for the new business being built there by Mr. Wilson.

Mark Vail of Salt Lake City and his sister of Bryant Pond called at Heritage Farm this week. They are natives of Newry and Mark being interested in genealogy we had a fun conversation about former mutual neighbors, relatives and friends.

Ladies Aid met Monday night and did some work winding up the recent Fair. It was decided to have a Halloween party with Tammy Grondin in charge.

Even the corn is still growing in Upton--Frosts common by early Sept. have been side-tracked.

Nice to have adult courses opened up. My specialty is basketry which they tell me is fitting for "basket cases."

North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

Sorry about missing last week's column. Too many personal problems. So I will try to mix it up with this week's.

The bowling scores were: Betsy Clark top scorer with triple score

327, and top single of 131 of the "lefties." On the "righties" Irene Hadfield was high with one single of 106, and also high on the triples.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Howard of Grapeland, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lechty of Brunswick, Nebraska left Tuesday, Sept. 8 after spending four days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell. Sunday, Sept. 6 visitors of the Lowells were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lariviere of Rumford.

Earl and Betty Wyman of Stratton visited with his nephew and wife, Ras and Karlene Bachelder recently. Ras and Karlene also would like to thank everyone who called to inquire about their sons, Don, Chris and Bret in Homestead, Fla. Chris and Bret are back in Fla. after spending some time here in North Newry.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Josephson and Tom O'Donnell of Portland spent some time with their grandparents, Ras and Karlene Bachelder recently. Julia Goodwin, their great-grandmother from Unity also was here in North Newry at the time. They all were family guests at the wedding of Paul Stewart and Laura Nielson, Paul is their nephew and grandson respectively. The wedding was performed on Cushing Island Sept. 12.

Nancy Jean Hanscom was surprised at two showers last week. One was a personal from her friends at Sue Wight's and another bridal shower at Pleasant River Grange in West Bethel. She and Mr. Peter Anderson will be married Oct. 10 at 6:30 p.m. at the Newry Community Church, and the reception will follow the wedding at the American Legion Hall in Bethel.

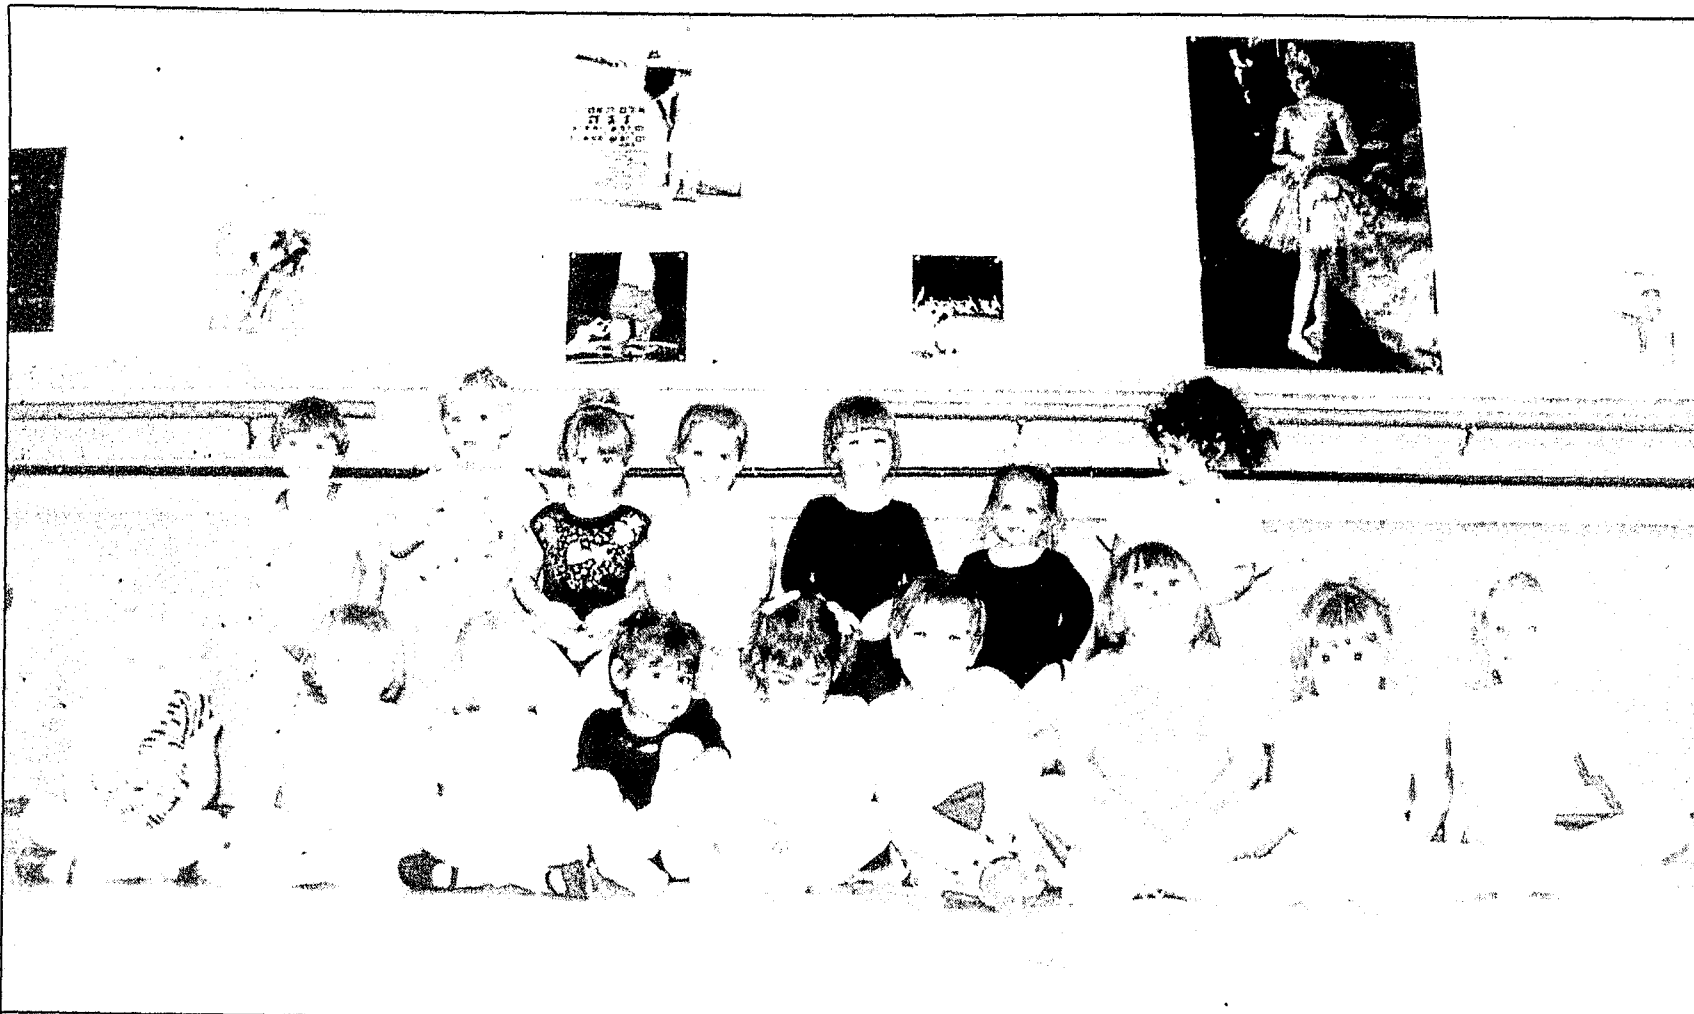

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Bea Lowell, Doris Parent and Olive Anderson of the "Newry Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes, doing some bowling for fun. Karlene of the "lefties" was high on the triples and tied with Gil on the singles. Doris of the "righties" was high on the triples beating Bea by one pin. Bea was high on the singles. Betsy had two spares, Karlene three spares, Gil four spares, Bea one strike and one spare, Doris had one spare. Karlene's mother, Julia Goodwin was a guest and so was Jim Anderson.

Mr. Bill Montgomery of Massachusetts spent some time at his summer place on Branch Road here in North Newry recently. Jim Anderson, his friend used to call him "Wee Willy" because he only weighs only 250 pounds!

The Newry Mothers' Club met Sept. 14 at the Town Building with seven members present. President Eleanor Davis opened the meeting with a prayer by Gil Seeley. Sunshine lady, Olive Anderson reported on sending cards to the shut-ins. Nancy Wight read some thank you cards. Lisa Vail, who had won the mystery prize at the last meeting was absent so this night's winner, Freda Robertson has to wait til next month. Happy Birthday to Bea Lowell. The Club will wait til next meeting of Oct. 12 for election of officers and discuss Halloween Party, and a possible public supper.

Karlene Bachelder read an article about people born before 1940. It was very interesting to find out all the modern stuff that they had to go without. Meeting was adjourned and snacks enjoyed. Next snack committee will be Karlene Bachelder, Nancy Wight and Olive Anderson.

Don Bachelder came from Florida to visit with his parents last week, and had plenty to tell about the devastation of his Homestead residence. He is the son of Ras and Karlene Bachelder. The family is back together again now that his wife and son, Bret are back.

Barton, Kayla Giberson and Catlin Carrol. The 3- and 4-year-olds will make their first appearance in the dance world during the theater's annual spring production. Chloé LaPointe is absent from the photo.

327, and top single of 131 of the "lefties." On the "righties" Irene Hadfield was high with one single of 106, and also high on the triples.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Howard of Grapeland, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lechty of Brunswick, Nebraska left Tuesday, Sept. 8 after spending four days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell. Sunday, Sept. 6 visitors of the Lowells were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lariviere of Rumford.

Earl and Betty Wyman of Stratton visited with his nephew and wife, Ras and Karlene Bachelder recently. Ras and Karlene also would like to thank everyone who called to inquire about their sons, Don, Chris and Bret in Homestead, Fla. Chris and Bret are back in Fla. after spending some time here in North Newry.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Josephson and Tom O'Donnell of Portland spent some time with their grandparents, Ras and Karlene Bachelder recently. Julia Goodwin, their great-grandmother from Unity also was here in North Newry at the time. They all were family guests at the wedding of Paul Stewart and Laura Nielson, Paul is their nephew and grandson respectively. The wedding was performed on Cushing Island Sept. 12.

Nancy Jean Hanscom was surprised at two showers last week. One was a personal from her friends at Sue Wight's and another bridal shower at Pleasant River Grange in West Bethel. She and Mr. Peter Anderson will be married Oct. 10 at 6:30 p.m. at the Newry Community Church, and the reception will follow the wedding at the American Legion Hall in Bethel.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seelye, Bea Lowell, Doris Parent and Olive Anderson of the "Newry Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes, doing some bowling for fun. Karlene of the "lefties" was high on the triples and tied with Gil on the singles. Doris of the "righties" was high on the triples beating Bea by one pin. Bea was high on the singles. Betsy had two spares, Karlene three spares, Gil four spares, Bea one strike and one spare, Doris had one spare. Karlene's mother, Julia Goodwin was a guest and so was Jim Anderson.

Mr. Bill Montgomery of Massachusetts spent some time at his summer place on Branch Road here in North Newry recently. Jim Anderson, his friend used to call him "Wee Willy" because he only weighs only 250 pounds!

The Newry Mothers' Club met Sept. 14 at the Town Building with seven members present. President Eleanor Davis opened the meeting with a prayer by Gil Seelye. Sunshine lady, Olive Anderson reported on sending cards to the shut-ins. Nancy Wight read some thank you cards. Lisa Vail, who had won the mystery prize at the last meeting was absent so this night's winner, Freda Robertson has to wait til next month. Happy Birthday to Bea Lowell. The Club will wait til next meeting of Oct. 12 for election of officers and discuss Halloween Party, and a possible public supper.

Karlene Bachelder read an article about people born before 1940. It was very interesting to find out all the modern stuff that they had to go without. Meeting was adjourned and snacks enjoyed. Next snack committee will be Karlene Bachelder, Nancy Wight and Olive Anderson.

Don Bachelder came from Florida to visit with his parents last week, and had plenty to tell about the devastation of his Homestead residence. He is the son of Ras and Karlene Bachelder. The family is back together again now that his wife and son, Bret are back.

GRANDPARENTS GALORE--Crescent Park School third-grader Josh Aylward, right, gets some counseling Friday from his grandfather Rupert Grover, while Josh's grandmother Ina looks on during Grandparents Day at the school. Charles Dresser, above, was visited by his grandmother Carlene Dresser and babysitter Althea Brown.

Adam Largess, left, also shared his lesson with his grandmother Eleanor Morway. The event attracted hundreds of grandparents, special friends and family, who sat in on their favorite student's classes and then gathered for refreshments under a tent in front of the school. (Photos by Wendy Hanscom)

The new year of AWANA Clubs will start on Thursday, Sept. 24 Sparks will be meeting 2:30 to 4 p.m.; grades three through six meeting 6 to 8 p.m.; Cubbies during Sunday School.

The Norway Historical Society has given the Historical Society a rare old Cavalry Ledger. Much thanks for this unique document. Kathleen Bean and Ruby Emery watched the museum recently. Ruby donated some more of her books.

John Hathaway gave a school sign. At the annual meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society, the members elected the following officers: President-Francis Brooks; Vice President-Earl Noyes; Secretary-Annela Burnham; Treasurer-Paul Billings; new Trustee-Ruth Cox; Curator-Larry Billings; Chairman of the Board of Trustees-Louisa Noyes; vice Chairman-Olive Risko; the Society also voted to establish a program committee to plan entertainment for the year. They purchased a new vacuum cleaner for the museum. Gary Inman presented an informative program on Channel IV complete with video and slides. The museum is now closed.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, Oct. 1. The place has been changed because of illness. The meeting will be held at the Country Way Restaurant. Judith Grover tent #17 met at the Grange Hall on Monday, Sept. 14 with 11 members present.

Filling in as officers were: President-Althea Stevens, Sr. Vice President-Beatrice Farnum, Patriotic Instructor-Kathleen McAllister, and Guide-Bessie House. Thank you notes were read from Togus for the quilt we gave them. Beatrice Farnum thanked the tent for her card and money. Cards were signed for Arlene MacKillop, Crystal Chase, Bethany S. Adams and Meridith Howe. Inspection will be held at East Stoneham tent on Oct. 28.

Mrs. Beatrice Farnum was guest of honor at an 80th birthday party on Sunday at the Jr. Grange Hall. Eighty people signed the guest book, a good time of visiting with family and friends was held. The cake was made by her granddaughter, JoAnn Crockett.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hoover and Marybeth, Avoca, N.H. Maggie and Joseph Hoyt visited their father, James Hoyt and grandparents, Kenneth and Alice Hoyt over the weekend.

Ray Jordan Jr. and family recently spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway. Other recent callers have been Phyllis, Reynold and Vance Jordan, Olive and Esther Davis and Ellsworth Hathaway. Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway went with Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Jordan to Stratham, N.H. to visit Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jordan.

The following is Meridith Howe's address. She has entered the Navy and will play in the band. SR Howe Meridith J., 004-86-5505, 1077 Div. 3, RTC Orlando, Fla. 32893-5077.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary served around 70 members and wives of the Western Maine Firemen's Association, Monday evening, at a ham supper. This was the third fundraiser this month so hopefully there will be a break during October before the craft fair. The Auxiliary is reminded their next meeting will be Monday, Sept. 28 at 6:30 p.m. at the Fire Station.

Ann Roy tells me son, Rick has received another stripe, making him a Senior Airman. He is part of the MAP unit, standing for mobile, I believe, and was in Homestead, Florida, for a couple weeks helping out victims of Hurricane Andrew.

Lorraine and John Mills visited Diane Thurston a week ago Friday at her home in Albany. She gave me a nice winter jacket which is going to come in handy this winter. We didn't get a chance to see her husband, Dave, so a couple days later they dropped in here for a visit. Nice.

Sylvia Dunham tells me Leland has been given a clean bill of health by the doctors and is back to feeling like his old self which is good news indeed.

This has been an interesting and busy week. The weather has finally caught up with summer now it is nearly fall; our daughter and son-in-law celebrated their 13th wedding anniversary on Sept. 17; I have a very persistent spider trying to set up a winter home in my bedroom and I find I am prejudiced against big spiders, not that I care for any, mind, but big ones-no way; I have put up more relish than I care to think about; (at least not until the eating part comes this winter; I visited Elvira Littlehale at Market Square Wednesday evening; and I have had two pleasant surprises: one a phone call from an old friend in Malden, Washington (nameless only because he reads my column, he tells me, and I forgot to ask if he minded seeing his own name there, wanting to catch up on news about mutual friends and acquaintances; and the other a plaque, given to me at a dispatcher's meeting of Tri-Town at the West Paris Barn Thursday evening, for my service both as head dispatcher and regular dispatcher over the past several years. I don't know as I deserved the nice things it said, certainly no more than many other faithful dispatchers I could name, but I was touched by the gesture; so much so, I, for once, could think of nothing to say. I'm not even sure I thanked them; there seemed to be a big lump in my throat getting in the way. Surprises aren't always good ones. But these were, which made for a nice week.

The Willing Workers' meeting was held at Marta Clements home, Sept. 2. Attending were Marta Clements, Thomasina Poland, Claribel Poland, Polly Bean, Esther Davis and Andrea Wing. The president, Mione Record was not able to attend so Marta conducted the business at hand.

Heat for the building was discussed and as funds are very limited, it was decided to wait until a later date to see what could be done to provide heat for the building, when needed.

The yearly Hunter's Supper was also discussed. No final plans for the date and location were made. The next meeting will be held at the Ledgeview Nursing Home in the library downstairs. We will be making final plans for the supper and need everyone who can do so to attend. This is one of our major projects for the year and we need as many as possible to help make it a success.

Everyone is welcome to attend the meetings. They are usually posted in this column. You can join or just attend and offer suggestions. Be sure to put on your calendar Wednesday, Sept. 30, at the Ledgeview Nursing Home in the library downstairs, the Willing Workers' meeting. Please plan to attend.

Jane Niro spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway this last week.

Mrs. Mildred Tyler is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway. Elbert Tyler is in Ledgeview Nursing Home.

Bruce Thurlow has a trailer home on the Andrews flat.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews are home from Oregon where they visited their son and family for a week. They had a good trip on the airplane from Portland to and from Oregon and Sylvia took a lot of pictures to remember her trip and show to her relatives. Gary Andrews took them on several trips around Oregon.

June B. Cushman and Beatrice were in town this week. They called on me and were going to call on other friends in town. They were from Winthrop. Formerly they resided in Woodstock where they got their education.

I have made six pillows this summer. It is hard to sit still so I picked that up for a while. I finished one today.

Esther Davis, Patricia Tibbets and Phyllis Stevens attended the benefit dance held at the Nicholodeon at Mechanic Falls on Sunday, Sept. 13.

Sunday, Sept. 6 I went to a baby shower for Brenda LaCroix at her folks camp, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Millett. There was a family cookout at noon, then the baby shower at 3 p.m. she got money and a lot of gifts, a beautiful shower cake made for by Brenda's sister, Maureen Heath.

Monday, Sept. 7 I joined Mr. and Mrs. Richard Felt, Sharon Silver, Jenn Felt, Todd Swan, Lucy Robbins, Louise Chapman for a nice turkey with all the fixings supper.

Tuesday, Sept. 8 I went with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr. to Portland to the eye doctor. Marietta has her eye operated on Sept. 16. Hope it comes out good.

Wednesday, Sept. 9 Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher took his sister Fannie Whitten to Massachusetts.

Mrs. Roberta Isley was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital with bronchial asthma.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Ole Olson. He will be missed. A good neighbor.

This is kinda late but the North Paris bible class gave Lena Kangas a going away party on Aug. 13. She will be living with her daughter and husband, Joe and Sandra Rojas, 13986 Laura Ave., Pine, Colorado, 80470.

Wednesday Sherry Thayer brought

Jason but he didn't stay long, he went to Togus with his "Ninnie" Millett. She took her Dad, James Coffin for a check-up.

Wednesday, Sept. 9 we had a delicious supper at Joe Kalinowski's "Big Rock" farm with Stanley Unikiewicz, Charles Walis from Connecticut Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Record, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Record and Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Doris Lawrence and callers Sherry Thayer and Jason, Joe Kalinowski, Stanley Unikiewicz, Joe and Madge Vatcher, Ruby Wing, Suzanne Keniston, Sharon Silver, Jenn Felt, Todd Swan.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher in the loss of her son in Cape Briton, Nova Scotia. Roberta Isley went with them.

A supper Saturday, Sept. 26 at North Paris Hall from 5 to 6 p.m. Beans, salads, casseroles, rolls, biscuits and home made pies are on the menu.

Tuesday, Sept. 15 Dora Dingley and I went to Helen Chase's camp for dinner. Charlotte Cole and Truth Abbott ate dinner with us. We played a new game. We had fun playing 63. Sherry Thayer brought Jason and he spent the night and I took him home Wednesday night, of course we stopped to see baby Joshua, he has grown.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Richard "Pop" Howe.

I hear Herman Cole from my home town, Pinhook City, has been in the hospital for tests and now he is back home. Let's send him some cheerful cards.

Callers Sherry Thayer and Jason, Jimbo Coffin and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card.

Sympathy is extended to the family of "Teddie" Olson.

West Paris Seniors will meet Tuesday, Oct. 6 at the Baptist Church parking lot at 11 a.m. and go to Follett's Restaurant for dinner.

Barns and Farms
In a time when "pedestrian" is used more often to describe someone hit by a car, it maybe more pleasant to walk mossy trails in the woods and fields of a farm. I recall many farms that I have visited. When walking at the edge of a swamp or through bush shaded ravines, it can be more interesting to a naturalist for there are deer trails, mink brooks, otter, muskrat, fox, raccoon and beaver.

Within the memory of men still living, oxen were in use. They worked on the farms or moved families westward. From the time of the first settlers Americans have been movers.

There were the old wood roads where it was usually cooler in summer. I remember that we sometimes talked about these roads as Refrigerators.

In places along the way the ridges were carpeted with mosses and ferns of various kinds.

The same kind of animals on the early farms still visit today. I once took a picture from my kitchen window of a skunk and a raccoon eating together, very peacefully.

Not long ago I visited a farm where the old barn still stands, empty for years of the horses, cows, sheep, and other animals. Yet the surroundings look the same and the memories still remain.

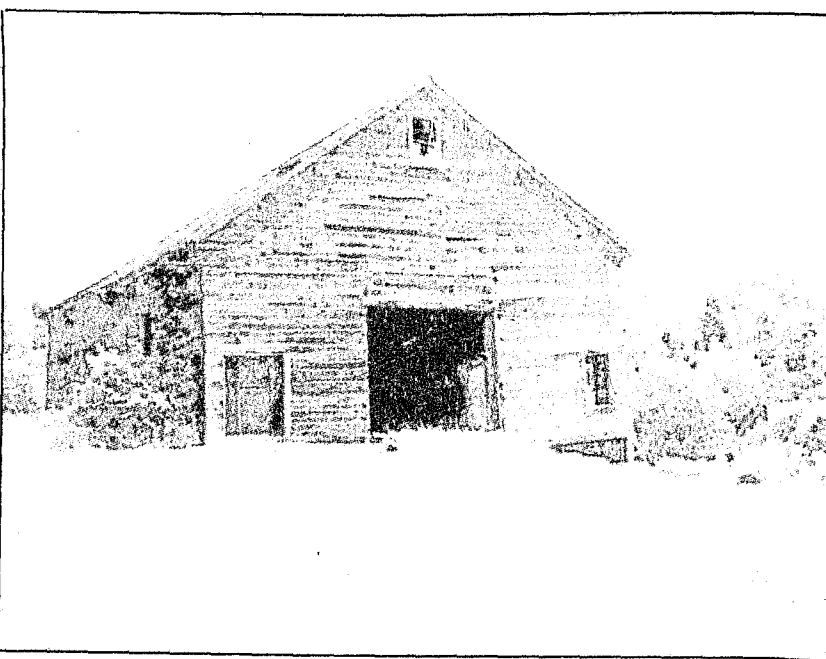

Just an old barn beside the road/

With weathered board all bent and bowed/ Just an old barn, beaten and gray/ A shell of itself in its younger day/ Just an old barn gathering dust/ With roof all pitted and without trust/ It's no longer needed, let it decay and rot/ Tear it down to clear a parking lot/ Chop down the hill and the forest, too/ Get rid of the old, bring on the new/ When the last farm's gone where the last barn stood/ Then where, pray tell, will permanent and the poles could remain there indefinitely, or until Central Maine Power Company decides to move them (the committee members and the town manager have different versions of what CMP representatives have said on the subject).

The selectmen's decision to move the poles now was based on a desire to make it as easy as possible to remove the strip in the future and replace it with the parking spaces.

"The board wanted to make it as clean an operation as possible," said Selectman Henry Dombkowski, the only selectman to hold out against the compromise.

Moving the poles now would also cost the town somewhat less than in the future, since some of the cost (how much is unclear) would be covered by state and/or federal funds.

The decision to move the poles was part of last month's compromise, but committee members almost immediately began having second thoughts about that aspect of the plan.

And a little while later three members of the committee, Don Brown, Lynn Mason and Dick Taylor, met with CMP representatives and then submitted a revised "suggestion" that called for leaving the poles where they are.

The new proposal was sent to the selectmen, but it was never discussed at their meetings, according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley.

Another aspect of the new proposal, placing granite rather than asphalt curbing along the roadway, was raised by Selectman John Thurston (a member of the original citizens' committee) at Monday evening's selectmen's meeting.

But a motion by Thurston to use granite curbing failed for lack of a second.

Dombkowski said Monday that he had contacted Don Brown to try to get the three to reaffirm the earlier version of the compromise, but to no avail.

"There's just too much antagonism now," Dombkowski said.

Ugly, ugly, ugly

Matters have not been helped by the current appearance of lower Main Street.

"Our little New England village is getting raped," said Mason, whose lawn has been severely excavated to make way for the new sidewalk. "It looks like Hurricane Andrew went up Main Street. I don't know how they're going to make it look right."

Taylor agreed. "It's a real pity," he said of the whole process. "The only emotion I feel now is bewilderment."

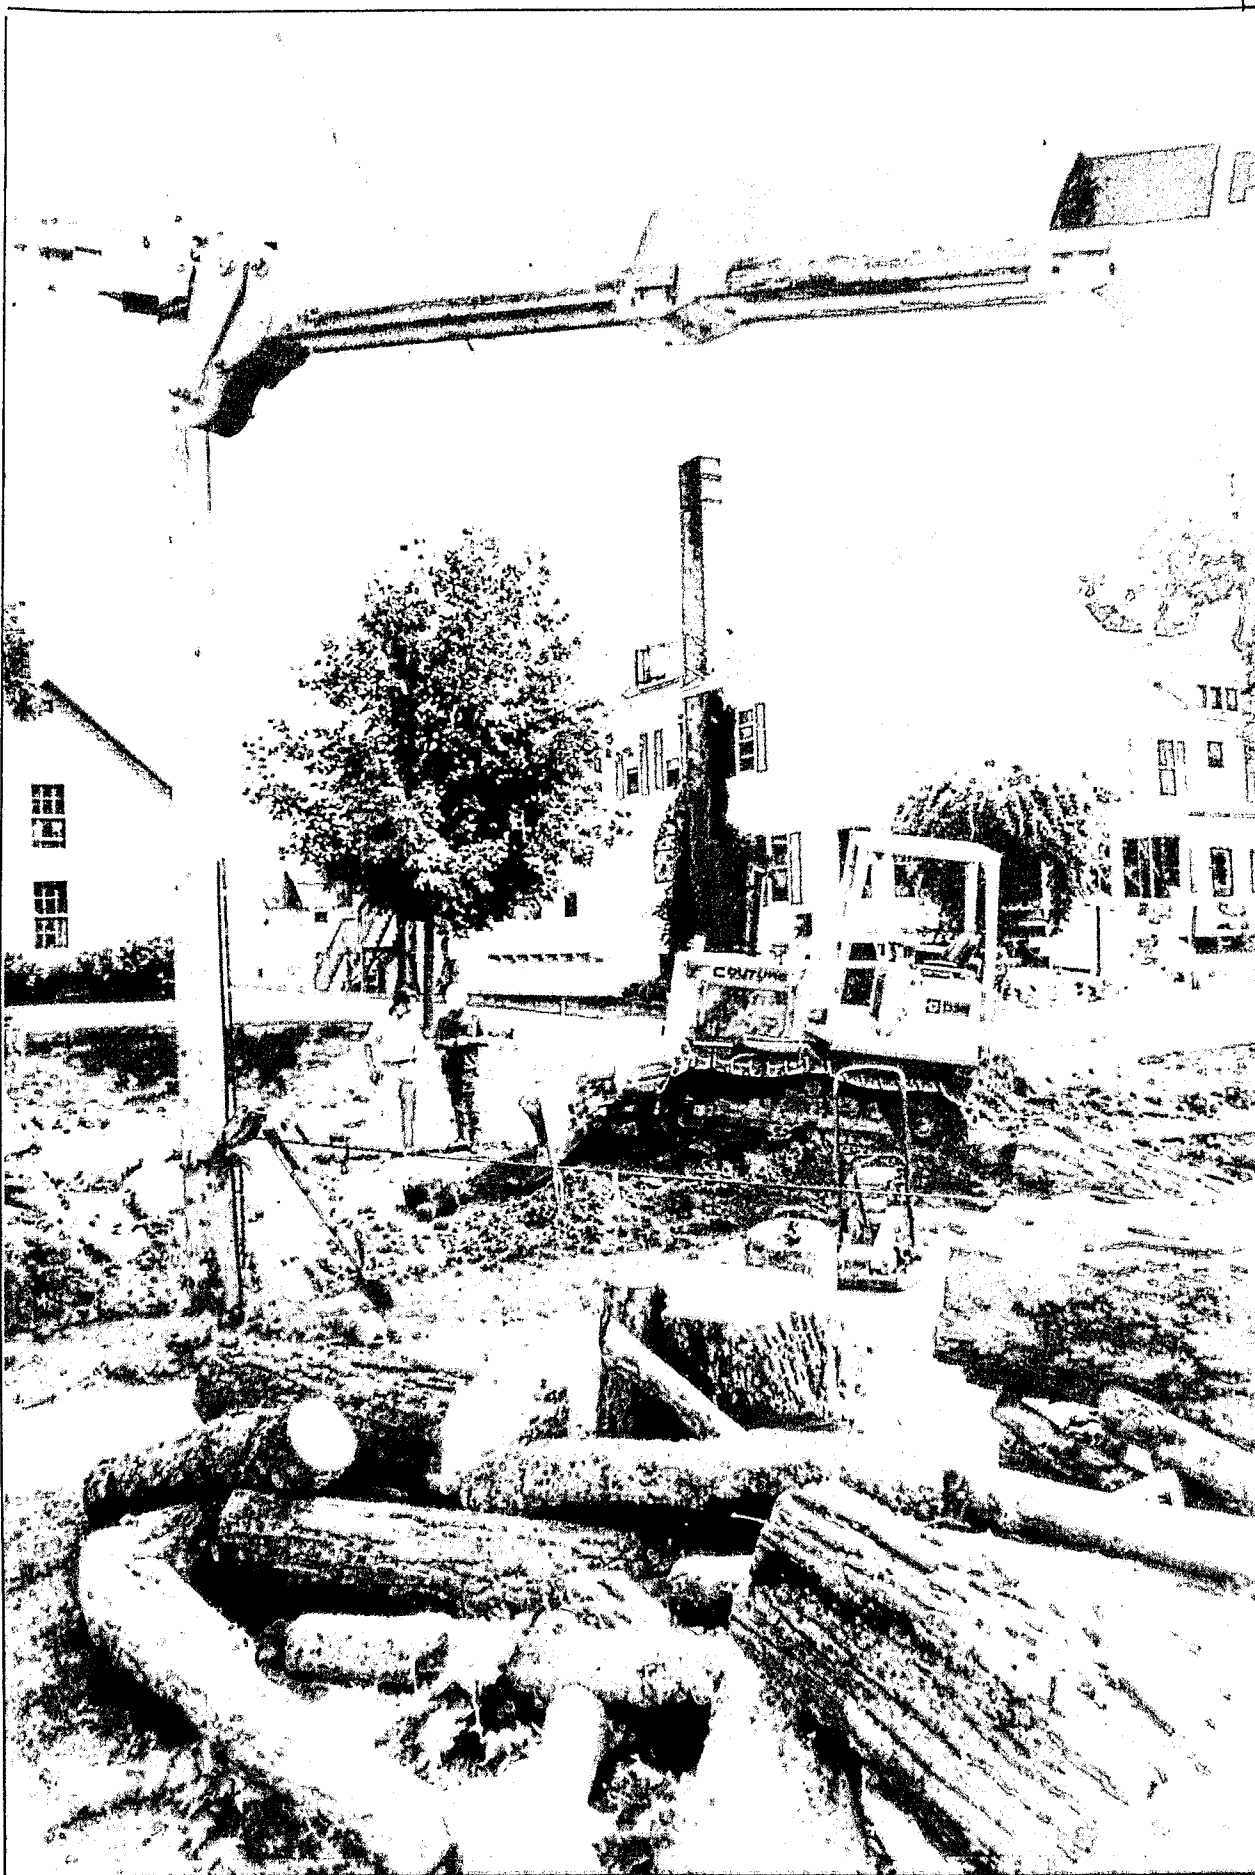

But not everyone on lower Main Street shared Mason and Taylor's grim view of the work. "Sure it's ugly now," said Jack Cronin, manager of the Sudbury Inn, "but then I just look upstreet and see how good that looks. In the long run it's going to look a lot better down here."

Henley said she has received fewer complaints about this summer's project than about last summer's (much larger) project. Most of those complaints, she said, have been about road conditions, which have been exacerbated by the summer's heavy rains.

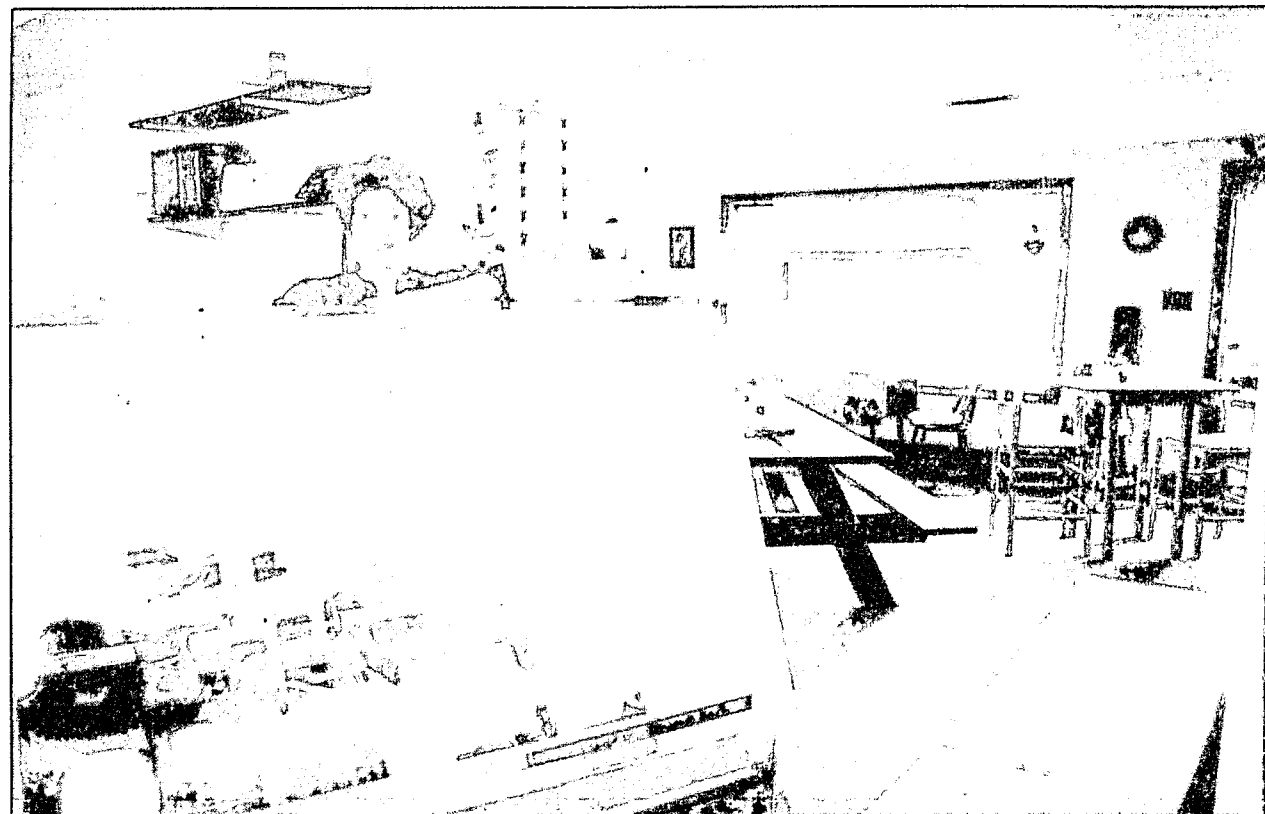

Overall, she said, the project is very close to schedule.

Moving uptown

Bids for Phase III of the Downtown Revitalization Project (Mill Hill, Church and Broad streets) are scheduled to be opened next week, Henley said, with construction likely to begin during the first week in October.

CONSTRUCTION ZONE--A construction worker, upper right, takes a break under Lynn Mason's blue spruce tree, one of the few large trees remaining on the west side of lower Main Street. Skidder's Deli, middle right, is open once again during the week, but business has been slow, owner Audrey Sundman said. The deli was closed last week, when work was scheduled to take place in front of the deli--but didn't. The two maples in front of Bonnama Potters, lower right, came down last week. Garrett Bonnama said the old trees will be missed, but the entrances from the street to Bonnama's driveway will now be safer. The summer's construction work has not had too much effect on business, Bonnama said. Across the street, Sudbury Inn Manager Jack Cronin agreed, but both said the constant dust and dirt have been a nuisance. Lower left, town project manager Mark Tyler, of A.E. Hodsdon Consulting Engineers, does some on site work in front of one of the four utility poles that will be moved inward from the roadway--a move that members of the citizens' committee strongly oppose.

Jackson-Silver Post

Members of the Jackson Silver Post #68, Locke Mills met at their Hall for their second bi-monthly meeting, Thursday, Sept. 17 at 7 p.m.

There was a special meeting before the regular meeting with a Paving Contractor David McKenna from Rumford to decide on the matter of applying a sealer to the parking lot. After a lengthy discussion it was voted that (1) the work should be completed at the earliest time possible, (2) that if possible the Post would purchase their own sealing material from the Paris Farmers Union and hire David McKenna and his men to do the work of sealing with the latest type of equipment for this type of work. In case the Post was not able to buy its own material then the contractor was to use his own material. The latter indicated that he could not guarantee the work, however, if any other sealing material was used than his.

Following this meeting the members of the Post met with the members of the Auxiliary for a brief patriotic program called "A Patriotic Sing." It was very well done with a few members of the Auxiliary leading Mary Lyon at the piano; Kathy Bartlett acting as M.C.; Sylvia Dunham and Olive Risko sang a beautiful duet; Noreen Russo and Olive Risko put on a little skit representing a debate between the present presidential candidates, President Bush and Governor Clinton, adding a bit of humor to the program. Refreshments were served to top it all off.

The Post readjusted their regular meeting, for the usual formal opening, flag salute, reciting the Preamble, prayer by Chaplain Rodney Hanscom. Finance Chairman Richard Cross reported another good Beano week. Committee on preparing a plaque for Viet Nam veterans reported progress. An inquiry was made as to the physical state of Past Commander Richard Andrews, still waiting assignment to a nursing home. It was voted to send a copy of the Post's By-laws to the Commander of the Buckfield Post.

The Post was honored to have Chaplain Barr from the State Department with us. He made a few brief remarks, complimenting the Post for their over-all successful ongoing program, one of the best in the State, he said. Also mentioned a new Americanism Program being used to promote patriotism in elementary schools which had been very well received state wide. Again mentioned the establishment of a National Fund by the American Legion to help in the hurricane-devastated area in Florida. The Post voted to give $100 to the fund.

It was voted that the Post donate the use of the Legion Hall for the use of a benefit dinner to the family of Alan Buckman Jr. A further motion was made that the Post make a donation of $150 to the family.

It was further voted that the Post make an inventory of its possessions and appointed Herb Lyon to head-up the group taking the inventory.

At this point because of the lateness of the hour a motion was made to adjourn and seconded. The meeting closed with prayer by Chaplain Rodney Hanscom and the posting of Mahoosuc Arts notes:

"In The Teens," the Debi Irons and Fred Garbo extravaganza, was a success. Presented on Saturday, Sept. 12 at the Helen Berry Auditorium, this creative combination of ensemble and solo dance, acrobatics, juggling, comedy and surprises entertained a lively, engaged audience. The show's beginning was delightful as Garbo demonstrated his many comedic talents while Energize Us! East, Debi Irons, and guest ballerina, Daelma Santos, made their debut entrances. This synchronized mix of performers made for a wonderful start. As the show progressed, Garbo's numbers were interspersed with the dancers' performances making for a wonderful variety of sights and sounds.

There were many highlights during the evening, both comic and aesthetic. Garbo charmed the audience with his clever usage of the "Inflatable Living" sculptures which ranged from cubes, to huge furniture pieces, human figures, a dog, and conical shapes. He would cleverly manipulate the objects from within, creating fascinating and comical configurations. During the end number, dancers from the company also worked with these shapes, the end composition being both visually appealing and amusing.

Some beautiful, breathtaking moments in the show occurred when Irons presented "Fuchsia Shock," a dance in which arm movements created vivid images of graceful birds. Santos was also captivating as she performed her ribbon dance. During this number, she adeptly spun the ribbons around her fluid, gorgeous movements. And the troupe presented powerful numbers, some of which spoke about contemporary teen issues. The big last surprise was Garbo and Irons' release, into the audience, of an enormous, inflatable cube which children delighted in punching. All in all, the evening was a worthwhile, enjoyable experience.

Mahoosuc Arts' next community performance will be the Robinson Ballet Co.'s production of "Nutcracker Suite" on Nov. 28. So please set that date aside on your calendar.

the colors by Comrade James Bragg, sergeant at arms.

Jackson-Silver Unit

A music and Americanism program was featured at the last meeting of Jackson-Silver Unit on Sept. 17. September is Music Month in the American Legion Auxiliary and Mary Lyon, the local chairman of that committee as well as Americanism, always plans an annual program of music based on an Americanism theme. On this occasion members of the Post and guests joined for the program before the regular meetings of the Post and Unit.

After Mrs. Lyon led the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, President Kathleen McAllister introduced the honored guests for the evening: Eileen Skillings, past department executive committee alternate; Carolyn Barr, PDP 1986-87, current music chairman; Mary Jo Barrett, past department secretary and current Americanism chairman.

The evening's program will be repeated at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond on Nov. 2 and possibly at Ledgewood Nursing Home in the near future.

At the meeting which followed the guests made brief remarks: Eileen Skillings, who is department junior activities chairman as well as a national regional chairman of the auxiliary Emergency Fund spoke about those programs; Mary Jo Barrett reported that the 100th anniversary of The Pledge of Allegiance is being stressed this year as well as the need to get out the vote. Also, it was in September, 1931 that The Star Spangled Banner was made the official National Anthem.

Carolyn Barr spoke about the Child Welfare Foundation of the American Legion and reminded that a veteran does not have to be a Legionnaire to apply for help for his family from this foundation. She also is trying to get the department chorus reactivated and is asking those members interested to come to rehearsals the last Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Veterans' Home in Augusta.

The president and secretary reported having attended the County Council meeting on Sept. 15 in Rumford and that they will be attending the Fall Conference in Augusta on Sept. 19.

Sept. 19 is also the date for the dinner being served to the Oxford County Retired Teachers and Oct. 6 a luncheon is being prepared for the Topsham Senior Citizens. Mary Lyon reports that several people have already reserved tables for the card and table game party on Sunday, Oct. 11, but more are available. Admission is a minimum donation of $3 to Special Olympics. For that one gets to spend an afternoon of fun with their friends and a chance to win door prizes. Pie and beverage will be served.

The next regular meeting will be on Oct. 1 at 7 p.m.

BETHEL BAKERY CLOSING

The Hometown Bakery owned by Therza Herrick of West Bethel closed recently.

Herrick said the bakery is under contract to be sold to a couple from Brewer.

"It grew up a lot faster than what I expected," Herrick said. "I just wanted to get a bakery set up the way I wanted to see one run. It was my intention from the start to establish the business and then sell it."

Herrick said if the current deal should fall through, she has other buyers interested in the bakery business.

AIDS WALK is Oct. 4

Janet Hall and Burt deFrees, co-coordinators of the Maine AIDS Walk-92 have arranged for the Mexico Congregational Church Women to provide food and drink refreshments to be served at the American Legion Hall at the end of the Walk, which is scheduled for Sunday Oct. 4.

In addition to refreshments, Clover, the musical duo, will provide entertainment of vocals accompanied by synthesizer keyboard and guitars. Linda Blackman and Elaine Michaud, both well known to the area as performers, will be singing folk music, pop, and original songs from 2:30 p.m. The general public is invited to attend this musical session even if they have not signed up for the Walk. Donations in any amount may be made by the audience at the information table.

The Community AIDS Awareness Program treasurer, Margaret Schlotzhauer, announced at the recent Walk committee meeting that proceeds from the sale of Walk T-shirts totaled over $200 during the first two Fridays in September.

Sold at the Lincoln Avenue Shop and Save, the T-shirts of 100 percent pre-shrunk cotton are in sizes medium, large, and extra-large. They are on sale each Friday of September from 3 to 6 p.m.

Registration for the Walk begins at noon at the American Legion Hall, and after a brief commentary by Dr. Theresa MacKnight of the Walk-In Clinic, participants will start the walk at 1 p.m. It is expected that the six mile route will be finished between 2:30 and 3:15 p.m.

UNITED METHODIST WOMEN

The Bethel United Methodist Women met Friday, Sept. 4 at noon for a potluck luncheon, hosted by Verna Dyke and Sylvia Clanton.

The business meeting opened at 1 p.m. by president, Ginny Keniston. Ginny had devotions, followed in unison with the Lord's Prayer. Fourteen people were present. There were 58 sick calls recognized.

An invitation read from Deering Memorial Church to a program Oct. 1. It was voted to send money to Florida Hurricane Relief Fund. Discussion on the Fall Fair for Nov. 13 and 14. Discussion on entertaining area church women at a later date. A thank you was read from the Marie Swan family. Betty Blake read results from Friday Gift Shop. Edna York will see about piano tuning. The next meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 1 at 1 p.m. in the church dining room. Hostesses will be Virginia Keniston and Muriel Faudi. Guest speaker will be Rachel McKay.

MANAGEMENT CLUB

The Western Maine Management Club will meet Oct. 5 at Follett's Restaurant in Oxford. Social hour will be from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. with dinner from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. The meal will be $14 per person.

The guest speaker, starting at 7:30 p.m., will be Peter Snell, workers compensation consultant. He will discuss "meeting the challenge of workers' compensation costs in Maine."

Reservations are being taken by Teri Grover of Fred P. Saunders Co. in Bridgton, 647-3331. Attendees are asked to phone no later than Thursday, Oct. 1 to reserve.

Rotary Club notes

The Sept. 15 meeting of the Bethel Rotary Club was the monthly club assembly, where club business is discussed. President Jeff Parsons presided over the meeting.

Jeff announced that Oct. 13 will be a spouses breakfast. Oct. 24 is the date of the club social honoring the 75th anniversary of the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International, to be held at the Bethel Inn from 6 to 10 p.m. We'll be honoring the Bruce Powell Family with three Paul Harris Fellowships.

Barbie Reed, Terry Elsmore, David Murphy and David Preble volunteered to be on a committee to investigate how we can help with the rebuilding of one of the South Florida towns destroyed by Hurricane Andrew. It was thought that we could help with the effort of retooling classrooms in one of the schools that were destroyed.

John Head had Rotary Information and read an excerpt from the Rumford Falls Times, dated Oct. 1939, when Paul Harris addressed the Rumford Club and planted a tree which still exists.

Guests for the morning included Bill Lowther, summer regular; Jane deFrees, Rumford; and Glen Huntley, Oxford Hills.

Weld: Village Variety, Weld General Store

Dixfield: Ellis' Variety, Dirigo High School, Holmes' Market

Mexico: Food City, Oxford Credit Union, Mountain Valley Middle School

Rumford: UMA Rumford/Mexico Center, Trendsetter's, Port-to-Port, Lincoln Avenue Shop and Save, Abbott Farm Plaza Shop and Save, Corner Pharmacy, Legere's, Rumford Public Library, Island Bookstore, Mountain Valley High School, Rumford Community Hospital, Mexico Walk-In Clinic, and during T-shirt sales on Fridays, 3 to 6 p.m. at Lincoln Avenue Shop 'n Save.

From the Bethel Area

Chmb. of Commerce

Welcome to our newest member, Austin Associates, Candace Sanborn, representative.

Many thanks to the Bethel Area Health Center for hosting the General Membership Meeting and Business After Hours on Monday, Sept. 21. All who attended enjoyed a tour of the Health Center and interaction with the others present.

Carol and Gerry Parker are our volunteers who are off to the Halifax, Nova Scotia Ski show this weekend. We hope to see many folks who will enjoy coming to our area not only in ski season, but year round. Many thanks to all the businesses who helped to finance this project. A complete list of them

COFFEE HOUSE UNDER THE TENT--The Zingo Zango Generic Jug Band performs Saturday on the Bethel town common. The performance kicked off the second season for the Just Imagine Coffee House, which plans to offer twice monthly performances thru April.

will be in next week's Bethel Citizen.

A reminder that all are invited to attend a Business Breakfast at the Mayville Tavern next Wednesday, Sept. 30 at 7:30 a.m. Some of our Legislative Delegation will be present to review the Blue Ribbon Commission's Worker's Compensation Report. Coffee and light Danish will be available and donations will be accepted.

Both Ski Mt. Abram and Sunday River Ski Resort are offering chamber members season ski tickets at reduced rate. We have the rates and details at the chamber office. Please call us or stop in.

BETHELOPOLY AVAILABLE

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is pleased to announce that we have successfully developed our first town game, Bethelopoly, which 33 local businesses have participated in.

Mahoosuc Realty, Sunday River Ski Resort and Powder Ridge each have four spaces on the Board, although, chairpeople Ed and Mary Jo Kennett of Kennett Realty contacted a wide range of businesses to buy space. The participants provide a nice cross section of the Bethel area. A spectacular four color aerial photo of the surrounding area graces both the outside box and the center of the game.

The first edition of this great town memento will be available Oct. 22, although the chamber is taking orders at this time. We are printing 500 games. One will be on display at the Fall Festival to be held at Sunday River Ski Resort Columbus Day Weekend, Oct. 10 and 11, or it can be seen at the chamber office. The purchase price of the game is $18 plus tax. Call the chamber office to place your order.

OXFORD POMONA GRANGE

Pleasant Pond Grange, West Sumner, hosted Oxford Pomona Grange for its September meeting, serving supper to over 50.

Anna Woodworth and Richard Felt reported for the Legislative committee spoke on worker's comp. Myrtle Bisbee, C.W.A. chairman, reported that items were needed for the Grange Building at Eastern States Exposition for the sales table. Winners in the National Grange Needlework and National Grange quilting contests at the Pomona level were Janyce Scribner, Norway Grange, sweater; Gail Butterfield, Lakeside Grange, Harrison, embroidered pillowcases and crocheted afghan; and Anna Woodworth, crocheted doily and hand stitched quilt. These items will be judged in state competition later this month. The annual C.W.A. report was given.

Reports were also given by the Youth, Deaf Activities and Scholarship committees.

The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were given. The books of these officers and the C.W.A. were audited. Oxford Grange, Welchville, received the attendance banner. Dot Canwell thanked Pleasant Pond Grange for the benefit dance they held for her. Russell Yates and Peggy Blake will be delegates to the 119th annual session of the Maine State Grange.

Resolutions of Respect were read for Audrey Hill, Norway Grange and Elwin Baker, Lakeside Grange, who passed away in July. A report was given on the variety show held at Oxford Grange for the benefit of Pomona. The committee was recognized for their work on this project and given a standing ovation.

The following officers were installed for the coming year: master, Russell Yates; overseer, Raymond Tripp Jr.; lecturer, Bertha Benoit; steward, Roger Ellsmore Jr.; assistant steward, Robert Grover; lady assistant steward, Nina Grover; chaplain, Pamela Ellsmore; treasurer, Anna Woodworth; secretary, Gail Butterfield; gatekeeper, Harold Canwell; Ceres, Lucille Robbins; Pomona, Peggy Blake; executive committee for three years, Richard Felt; and pianist, Dot Canwell. Absent was Flora, Olive Risko.

The installing team consisted of Francis Conant, installing master, Lewis Bisbee, master, Hazel Conant, First Marshall, Myrtle Bisbee, second marshal and chaplain; Terry Bisbee, regalia bearer, Leland Bisbee, emblem bearer, Ruby Whitney, soloist and Althea Fish, pianist. They were presented gifts of appreciation by WM Russell Yates.

The following were appointed to Committees: C.W.A., Myrtle Bisbee, Lily Swallow, and Marian Bennett; Legislative, Anna Woodworth; Agriculture, Carl Brooks and Richard Felt; Youth and Junior, Raymond Tripp Jr.; Deaf Activities, Bertha Benoit; Publicity, Gail Butterfield; Membership, Lewis Bisbee; and Community Service, Stanley Howe.

Bertha Benoit gave a report on the New England Lecturer's Conference.

SCOUTS TO SELL POPCORN

Members of Bethel Boy Scouts of America troop #565 as well as scouts from across the state will be pounding the pavement starting Sept. 29 as they kick off their annual sale of Trail's End gourmet popcorn.

Scoutmaster Mark Wigley said the popcorn sale usually raises about 25 percent of the Bethel troop's annual operating expenses.

The boys will be pitching their wares to friend and family and going door-to-door. The sale will last through Oct. 17.

Funds from the sale will also help support Pine Tree Council activities as well as individual scouting units.

Last year the Pine Tree Council sold 72,000 containers of the popcorn and raised more than $300,000. The council has set a goal of $325,000 this year.

Anyone interested in supporting the scouts by purchasing popcorn can contact Mark Wigley at 836-3602.

DUNHAM REUNION

The 46th annual reunion of the descendants of Elton and Mabel Morgan Dunham was held Sept. 13 at Roland and Ruth Dunham's cabin on the Dunham property on Rowe Hill.

Eighty-four people enjoyed a bountiful potluck dinner served at noon on a beautiful day.

Roland Dunham, president, opened the meeting and Richard Jordan gave a prayer. The minutes of last year were read by Ruth Dunham, secretary and treasurer.

Election of officers for 1993 were: president, Leland Dunham and secretary and treasurer, Sylvia Dunham. Gladys (Dunham) Jordan, 87, was the oldest present and Faith Janice Parker, 7 months, (granddaughter of Irving and Ellen Cole) was the youngest.

After the meeting everyone enjoyed listening to music by Richard Jordan, Irving Cole, Charlotte Cole, Philip House and Terry Martin. Some played volleyball. Group pictures and videos were taken.

Raymond Tripp Jr. Attendance Pond at 2 p.m. The next meeting drawing was won by Elizabeth Foster.

A degree rehearsal will be held with a 6:30 supper and 7:30 meeting Oct. 4, at Franklin Grange Bryant time.

Lithium For Various Mental Disorders

Lithium has been used successfully for more than a decade in the United States for the management of certain mental problems including mania, depression, and mood disorders. According to a number of recent articles in psychiatric journals, lithium probably is the most effective agent being used in the prevention of manic depression.

Most persons who take lithium experience a lag time from when they start the medicine until the time it reaches its maximum effectiveness in preventing manic or depressive behavior. The lag time may range from a few days to two weeks. The American Hospital Formulary Service indicates that lithium is more effective in preventing mania and hyperactivity than in preventing depression.

Lithium is one of a few medicines that have a narrow therapeutic index. This means that the range from an effective therapeutic blood level to a toxic level is not very wide. Therefore, blood levels of lithium must be monitored carefully during therapy. Mild toxicity may include nausea and vomiting, while severe toxicity may result in muscle rigidity, seizures, and irregular heart beat. Lithium may interact with several medicines including certain diuretics, non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, and certain antidepressants. If you take lithium, discuss its use with your physician and pharmacist.

GIFT GIVING: KNOW THE RULES, AND BEWARE OF THE TRAPS

This article is brought to you by Jane D. Gray, CPA

If you plan to share your wealth with others, now or in the future, it pays to know the basic gift tax rules -- and a few traps to avoid.

The Basics. In general, the IRS imposes a tax whenever you give property to another person. But there are two major exceptions: you may give up to $10,000, per year to any number of people without triggering gift tax. In addition to this annual gift tax exclusion, the first $600,000 that you give away during your lifetime is gift tax-free. As you use this $600,000 gift allowance, you reduce the amount that may be distributed tax-free from your estate. Even so, lifetime gifts can make good tax sense.

Some gift tax traps to avoid:
• Cut the Strings. For a gift to be valid, you must really part with ownership. For example, if you give away a residence, you can't continue to live there rent-free. If you give away stock, you shouldn't continue receiving the dividends. Also watch for "incomplete" and "future" gifts, and gifts in trust for your children (especially if you are the trustee).

• Track your Gifts. Remember that holiday and birthday gifts count toward the $10,000 per person annual gift tax exclusion.

• Watch your Timing. A gift made by check is not complete until the recipient actually cashes the check. Plan accordingly at year-end, especially if you want your gift to be counted toward the current year's $10,000 exclusion.

• Keep your Perspective. Don't make a gift unless you can afford to. If you might need money or property to cover future health care costs or to protect against future inflation, don't give it away in the first place -- no matter what the tax benefits.

USDA - Forest Service

White Mtn. National Forest
Evans Notch Ranger District
Albany, Oxford County, ME

On September 16, 1992, Evans Notch District Ranger Rolly Oregon made a decision to harvest approximately 690 thousand board feet of timber on 112 acres of National Forest Land in Compartment 31. He also decided to restore 1.1 miles of Type I road and reconstruct 0.1 mile of existing Type II road to facilitate access to the harvest area.

The Decision Notice and Finding of No Significant Impact are available upon request from the White Mountain National Forest, Lancoia, NH 03247, and the Evans Notch Ranger District, Bethel, ME 04217-9634.

This decision is subject to appeal pursuant to Forest Service regulations at 36 CFR Part 217. Appeal must be filed no later than November 5, 1992. Legal notice of this decision was first published in the Lewiston Sun Journal newspaper, Lewiston, Maine, on September 21, 1992. Notices of Appeal must meet the requirements of 36 CFR 217.9.

ANDOVER AWANA--Awana club directors Barb Bailey and Tina Farrington gear-up for this year's program at the Calvary Congregational Church on route 5 in Andover.

Andover church AWANA

Calvary Congregational Church of Andover, located on Route 5, will offer AWANA Clubs for kindergarten through sixth-grade youth this fall. The Club leaders have recently undergone a training program and have passed the Basic Training Test with all receiving 98 percent or above.

The fall leadership includes: Lorena Simmons as guards club leader for fifth and sixth-grade girls; Barb Bailey, both sparks director/leader for K through grade two boys and girls and Chums Club leader for girls grades three and four; Don Bailey as Pioneers Club leader for boys grades five and six; Tina Farrington, certified director and Sparks leader; Scott Farrington, program commander and Pals Leader for boys grades three and four. Helpers will include Pastor Duane Waite and wife, Joan, Sandra Clement, Edna Smith, Angela Smith, Betty and Foster Davis. The Sparks Club will meet after school on Friday afternoons from 3 to 4:30 p.m. and the other four Clubs will meet Friday evenings together from 6 to 8 p.m. at the church facility.

CCC is holding an Open House for the community on Friday, Sept. 25 at 7 p.m. CCC joins the First Baptist Church of Mexico, Bryant Pond Baptist Church, and Pleasant Valley Bible Church, all area churches offering the AWANA Programs.

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks for all the cards, visits, phone calls, and other acts of kindness and concern, while I was in the hospital and since my return home.

Also thanks to Bethel Area Health Center, the doctors, nurses & Robin at Stephens Memorial Hospital and to Peter Musso. Every act of love meant so much.

Walter Newell

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Gladys Cross wishes to thank everyone for their help and the many expressions of sympathy at the time of our loss. Also to those who remembered her, and cared for her, while she was at Ledgeview Nursing Home. Many thanks for helping to make her days much brighter.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldwin Gardner

Two Lights State Park, Cape Elizabeth was the setting for the April 4 wedding of Delia Mae Jordan to Eldwin Jerry Gardner. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Jordan, Sr. of Waterford. The groom is the son of Mrs. Gordon Gardner, Sr. of Big Flats, N.H., and the late Mr. Gardner. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway, Bryant Pond and Mrs. Orlando Jordan, Locke Mills. Mrs. Hartman of Big Flats, N.H. is grandmother of the groom.

The bride was escorted onto the rocks at Two Lights by her father for the double ring ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Norman Rust of North Waterford and Jackman. The attendants were Gale Sullivan, Cortland, N.Y., college friend of the bride and sister of the groom, and David Reynolds, Horseheads, N.H. friend of the groom.

Dressed in antique silk decorated with lace, sequins and seed pearls made for her by a Rochester, N.Y. designer, the bride carried an arm bouquet of red roses, white statice and ivy. Her attendant carried an arm bouquet of white roses and wore a floral print tea dress. The bride's dress was full length with mutton sleeves and a bell shaped skirt.

A reception followed in a grove at the park. The wedding cake was made by the bride's mother and served by her parents. The previous night a party was given for the immediate families, attendants and Rev. and Mrs. Rust at Dimillo's Floating Restaurant on Portland Harbor.

Delia is an occupational therapist R-L in acute care at Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester, N.Y. She is a graduate of Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio, and the University of New England, Biddeford. Jerry is the owner of E.J. Trucking Co., in Big Flats, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are at home in Oaks Corners, N.Y. in the Finger Lakes Region, after a trip to Cape Cod, Washington, D.C. and Virginia Beach.
